Lusty Song Captures Big Stake

Rich Hambletonian Goes to Trotter From Illinois

GOSHEN, N.Y., Aug. 9—(AP)—Lusty Song won the $75,209 Hambletonian stakes today at Good Time Park—richest in the 25 years of the premier harness racing event—by sweeping two straight heats.

The speedy son of Volomite, owned by the E. J. Hayes Fair Acres Stable of Du Quoin, Ill., was forced to the limit to grab the second heat by a neck as Star's Pride closed with a stretch rush. The Hayes colt had taken the first dash over the mile route by 1½ lengths from Star's Pride.

Both heats were caught in 2:02 flat with Lusty Song and his driver, Del Miller of Meadow Lands, Pa., leading a good part of the way both times.

SHORT PRICES

Florican was third in the final and deciding heat. Star's Pride and Florican were the Trainer Harry Pownall entry.

Lusty Song, hte 1949 two-year-old champion, returned $4.10, $2.20 and $2.90 in beating 11 rivals in the second heat.

The entry paid $2.10 to place and $3 to show in the final brush.

VIOLATIONS MAKE CITY HAZARDOUS

BY-LAW compelling motorists to stop at street intersections and give pedestrians right of way is widely violated, Bulletin reporter Stanley Burke finds in survey. Crossing busy downtown streets unguarded by traffic lights is found to be a risky adventure.

PEDESTRIANS are just as negligent in observing motorists' rights and observing traffic rules while crossing streets as motcrists are about pedestrians' rights, Burke finds. Pedestrians who "jay walk" like these two are menace to safety on city's streets.

Both Motorists, Pedestrians Are Flagrant Law-Breakers

By STANLEY BURKE

I walked the streets of Edmonton for an hour today and saw a traffic law broken almost every minute by motorists.

Section Two of bylaw 1250 of the newly revised Highway Traffic Act says the "driver of any vehicle shall yield the right-of-way to any pedestrian crossing a roadway at any marked or unmarked crosswalk." The only exceptions are where traffic is controlled by a traffic light or a constable.

By actual count, 43 cars bore down on me as I crossed at various intersections where traffic is not regulated by lights. Of the 43, exactly two stopped to give me the right-of-way—and both of them were tourist cars. One was from California and one was from B.C.

A few Alberta cars and trucks slowed, but most just swerved and swished past.

Two vehicles, a truck and a taxi, kept right on coming, blaring their horns.

Both Walker Blake, general manager of the Alberta Motor Association, and Howard Stutchbury, pre-

TO RAIN OR NOT TO RAIN

Edmonton's weather forecasters are really having a hard time today.

They're trying to decide whether or not it's going to rain. — It is.

Certain moist cloud formations moving over the city are expected to cause scattered showers beginning early this afternoon and continuing to early this evening.

Similar conditions are also expected in most sections of the province today with possible light scattered showers in southern Alberta.

Japanese Floods Destroy Homes

TOKYO, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Floods this week throughout eastern and northeastern Japan took a casualty toll of more than 120 persons and caused damage to property estimated at 7,000,000,000 yen (nearly $20,000,000).

High water destroyed 345 homes and flooded 34,057 others.

By STANLEY BURKE

Edmonton drivers are no saints—but for every time they break a law, the pedestrians break a dozen.

Today I got behind the wheel of a car and cruised the streets of downtown Edmonton for an hour. It was a harrowing experience, as every driver knows.

Judging from the way they amble out into the traffic stream, Edmonton pedestrians must figure they bear charmed lives. But a glance at the police traffic files tells the true tragic story.

Of the 22 persons killed last year on Edmontton streets, no less than half were pedestrians. And almost all of those deaths could have been prevented, traffic authorities state, if those persons had obeyed the law.

For example, there was the middle-aged man in a brown sport shirt and grey fedora who stepped out from between two parked cars on the north side of Jasper between 100 street and 101 street.

He broke section 401 of bylaw 1288 which states very clearly that "no pedestrian shall cross any paved highway at any point other than at a crosswalk or

Alaskans In Terror Of Gunman

Threats to Shoot Six Men Send Villagers Hiding

HOMER, Alaska, Aug. 9—(AP)— A berserk gunman roamed the streets of Homer, 125 miles southwest of Anchorage, early today as terrorized inhabitants hid in their homes.

Two deputy marshals, armed with rifles and gas grenades, left Anchorage by plane in answer to a call for help.

The rifle-toting man began his reign of terror last night, threatening to kill six men as he roamed the streets of this homesteader's town on the Kenai peninsula.

He fired only one shot but it was enough to keep residents indoors.

Homer is a town of about 325 population.

Jet Experiment Tried In Britain On Paddle-Boat

DUMBARTON, Scotland, Aug. 9.—(AP) — A converted paddle-boat driven by four screaming airplane engines today made the world's first test of pure jet propulsion on the water.

The vessel was the 62-year-old Clyde river veteran Lucy Ashton. Fitted out with four Rolls-Royce Derwent V engines similar to those used by jet fighters, she moved up and down the Clyde at a good but undisclosed clip, in her preliminary trials.

The jet engines are mounted in a bank on the deck amidships. Each delivers a thrust of 3,500 pounds.

Purpose of the test, by the British Shipbuilding Research Association, is to work out figures on the full resistance of jet-powered vessels.

Allies Hurl Back Two Red Drives

Beachheads at Both Ends Are Made By Big Drives

By Earnest Hoberecht

TOKYO, Thursday, Aug. 10.—(UP)—American and South Korean forces threw the Communists back at both ends of the Naktong River line today and fastened a firm grip on enemy bridgeheads in between.

It was the first effective stand of the war against a determined Communist assault on an allied line.

The U.S. Marines scored a five-mile breakthrough on the south coast. GI's of the 35th Regiment plunged nearly within sight of Chinju on the same front. The Communists were falling back on Chinju in some disorder, abandoning much equipment.

At the other end of the Naktong line, hard fighting South Korean troops smashed a Communist bridgehead eight miles north of Waegwan. They drove nearly all of the 2,000 North Koreans back across the river.

DRIVE BACK

Just south of Waegwan, on the northwestern approaches to the provisional capital of Taegu, U.S. 1st Cavalry troops clamped an iron ring on another Communist bridgehead. Eighth Army headquarters reported that the Yanks drove the enemy back to the water's edge, and the North Koreans will be unable to "reinforce their units during the night."

SOME PROGRESS

Still other Americans were attacking from three sides a Communist bridehead in the big bend of the Naktong where it turns eastward toward Pusan.

Some progress was reported among the 1,000-foot hills on which about 4,000 enemy troops were dug in. They had some tank support.

Aided by slam-bang artillery and pinpoint fire bombing, the Americans pounded their way 1,000 yards up a high ridge from which they can push off again tomorrow down the ridges leading back to the river two miles to the west.

The GIs attacked at 5 p.m. and reached the commanding ridge just before dark. A fresh infantry unit attacked up the middle while the battle-tested 19th and 34th regiments boxed in the bridgehead.

On the right flank of the offensive, troops of the 35th Regimental combat team were almost in sight of Chinju, United Press correspondent Jack James reported. The 35th claimed it had killed 500 to 600 Communists in three days of fighting.

"The enemy was reported to be retreating in haste and abandoning much equipment," James reported.

The accused corporal, W. B. Armstrong, allegedly entered the office and pumped two .30-.30 soft nosed slugs into Major Kayes from a rifle.

The major was immediately admitted to the Whitehorse military hospital where his condition today is reported to be improving.

Cpl. Armstrong is now in custody of the RCMP, Whitehorse detachment.

City Planner Feels Miracle Mile Is Best

Because it combines the three main bases of good town planning practice, the Detwiler $28,000,000 Miracle Mile is in Edmonton's best interest.

The city centre development project embodies ingredients of unity, integration and balance, City Planner Noel Dant today told the Board of Public Utility Commissioners' public hearing on the project.

Mayor Parsons told the hearing that Edmonton has no hope of borrowing sufficient money to finance anything similar to the Detwiler project.

"In view of our commitments for utilities and street improvements, there is no hope of carrying, or of even getting a real start, on such a project for at least 10 years," he said.

When he was sworn as a witness yesterday, City Solicitor Tom Garside drew from Mr. Dant statements of his university training and town planning experience, which showed him to be fully qualified through university degrees in both the U.K. and United States, as well as having many years' experience as a town planner in several areas of southeast Asia, Europe, the U.K

Planner Praises Detwiler Project

LACK OF SPACE

The project, by grouping shopping, commercial, professional and parking facilities, will provide the centralizing influence needed to prevent dereliction and decay in the downtown area, he said.

Unchecked decentralization in cities leads to reduced assessments, and there must be some recentralizing force to counteract it. The Detwiler scheme would provide that for Edmonton, said Mr. Dant.

Parking facilities in downtown areas are "criminally lacking," and the plan would materially aid in solving the problem.

JUST A PIG STY

The area between 101A and 104 avenues, from 99 to 100 streets, is a "very unstable" one for the town planning aspect, he said, and as such highly undesirable.

The market square itself is "quite frankly a pig sty," and the Detwiler plan of development should stabilize not only the area itself, but surrounding areas.

Asked by City Solicitor Tom Garside if it might be a good idea to carry out a suggestion advanced by opponents of the scheme, to sell separate parcels of land on the City Centre for individual developments, Mr. Dant replied.

"I think it would be extremely bad."

Piece-meal development would lose the unity of development, would take a long time, and would yield a "hodge-podge like some parts of Jasper avenue," the city planner said.

BIG SERVICE

One building might provide adequate parking facilities, where the adjoining one might refuse, he suggested.

Parking over 100 per cent of the city centre area, with no other development whatever, would be "very wrong."

"There must be a strong magnet to draw people there, and the Detwiler scheme provides that," he said.

If a building owner offers to build on only two-thirds of a site, he renders a "great service" to the city from a town planning aspect, said Mr. Dant.

"But when he offers to build on only one-third, as Mr. Detwiler proposes, he renders to the city an extremely great service."

He pointed out that such a plan gives surrounding buildings adequate access to light and ventilation, and offers the city structure "a tremendous asset."

LIKE VANCOUVER

"Such a thing has never happened to any city in my experience," he said.

Five cities in the United Kingdom are starting work on similar schemes, but in each case they are unable to finance it, and the central government is footing the bill.

"It is quite unlikely that such a plan for Edmonton could be financed otherwise than the way it is proposed," said Mr. Dant.

Vancouver had a fine plan for city centre development which was destined for the pigeon hole until L. E. Detwiler appeared on that city's horizon, he suggested. Financing by the city alone offered an insurmountable obstacle.

Asked by Mr. Garside if there is any alternative development he could suggest for the city centre area, Mr. Dant said there is none "unless it is very, very similar to Mr. Detwiler's proposal."

CITY OBLIGATED

Questioned by Commissioner Bruce V. Massie, the town planner said he did not think retail business firms west of 101 street would suffer from the Detwiler project.

Mr. Dant pointed out that the city is pledged to provide more parking space in that section of the downtown area.

In addition the westward expansion of retail business has actually reached its limit, because it is now "bumping up against the warehouse district."

Mr. Dant said in reply to a question from George Bryan, counsel for T. Eaton (Western) Limited, he considers the Detwiler project to be in the best interest of Edmonton on the basis of its functional capacity.

He did not feel competent to discuss the financial aspects of the agreement between the city and the Detwiler interests.

MORE FLEXIBLE

He pointed out to counsel that modern architectural designing is much more flexible than in former years.

He made this observation in reply to the suggestion from Mr. Bryan that the city might be saddled with a group of obsolescent buildings at the end of 69 years.

He explained that if buildings are put up with a minimum of interior columns they can be rapidly converted to other uses.

City officials previously estimated the value of the project at something over $14,000,000 at the end of 69 years, when it will be turned over to the city by the Detwiler interests.

Howard Emery, KC, representing Hudson's Bay Co. Ltd., asked Mr. Dant if the development of the civic centre area as a park, with auto parking facilities, would not be as useful as the Detwiler project.

CITY SPENDING

"That would be better than the way it is now, but it would not develop the easterly portion of the downtown area, and the city would have to spend money on upkeep without any returns," Mr. Dant replied.

He told Mr. Ross the Detwiler project appeals to him because it will give the city a "heart."

Because we live in commercial times, city centres are commercial centres, he said.

The heart provides stability for a city at its very centre, he said.

He denied the project would add to downtown traffic congestion, if carried out in conjunction with a superhighway system planned by the city.

IS SATISFIED

He admitted a scheme such as the Detwiler project at a city centre has never been tried before but said such developments have been advocated for years by all professors and teachers on the subject of town planning.

Witness said he was satisfied from preliminary drawings of the project but admitted he would need detailed blueprints before permits for the buildings would be issued.

"I would be very angry if the project was not carried out according to the drawings," he admitted to counsel.

He added that he had full confidence in Mr. Detwiler carrying out the project as outlined in the preliminary drawings.

Mr. Ross suggested that large cities like Detroit and Chicago were solving their downtown traffic problems by widening of streets and not in projects similar to the Detwiler plan.

SEES NO REASON

Mayor Parsons said that it will cost the city "many millions of dollars" to rectify the growing traffic congestion downtown, and get streets back to where they fulfil their original function, that of carrying traffic.

The Detwiler plan will help toward that end, he said.

It will also benefit established businesses in the general area, as well as draw new business and office concerns to the city.

Asked by lawyer Stan Ross, counsel for firms opposing the agreement with First New Amsterdam Corporation, whether the Detwiler scheme would affect the city's borrowing powers, the mayor replied:

"I can't conceive that setting $20,000,000 down in the middle of the city could be detrimental to the city's borrowing power."

Mr. Ross asked the mayor's opinion of proposals to develop the city centre area as four blocks of parking, with nothing else.

"That would be a good way to start losing business," said the mayor.

"Four blocks of solid parked cars would be the poorest type of civic centre you could conceive. It would be an attraction to nobody, and in fact would present an eyesore."

The Detwiler project is in the city's best interest, said the mayor, because it would provide not only assets in the way of parking for 1,800 cars, an auditorium, art gallery, but also draw both outside business and countless tourists to Edmonton.

"Even if we were to throw away $8,000,000 of the city's expected profits over the life of the deal, we still would have the use of all the splendid facilities."

HURRYING HOME

Then there was the young lady in the pretty blue dress who was apparently hurrying home after a day's shopping. Arms loaded with parcels, she crossed 101 street at Jasper after the light turned yellow.

She didn't endanger her life, but she showed lack of courtesy in holding up eight cars while she crossed. And, indirectly, she endangered the lives of others because one of the fundamentals of traffic safety is to keep traffic moving smoothly and rapidly.

"Edmonton is one of the worst cities I've seen for jaywalking. People around here seem to think they're crossing the street of some little prairie farm town," said driver Jeff Nightingale, 11245-124 street.

"It's time the police checked up on these birds. They ought to give out a few tickets for jaywalking and traffic violations, instead of keeping a battalion of policemen watching for red flags on parking meters."

TOLERANT VIEW

Paul Lawrence of the Edmonton Safety Council takes a somewhat more tolerant view.

"The majority of Edmonton pedestrians are law abiding," he said. "But there is lots of room for improvement."

Commenting on police figures which show over 100 of the 300 traffic casualties in the city last year were pedestrians, he pointed out that most could have been avoided by care and common courtesy.

"We always have a few people who cross in the middle of the block to save a few seconds. They ought to remember one can lose a life trying to save seconds."

STOP JAYWALKING

He pointed out pedestrians could expect more respect by drivers for pedestrian crosswalks if they would, in turn, stop jaywalking.

Police Chief Reg Jennings also stressed the need for courtesy on both sides.

"If we are to keep traffic moving rapidly, we can't force all cars to come to a full stop for every pedestrian in a crosswalk. On the other hand, the pedestrian has the right of way and drivers must respect it."

Motorists

sident of the Alberta Safety Council, blamed ignorance on the part of drivers for the existing situation.

"Half the people in Edmonton don't know what those crosswalks mean. It's more of an educational problem than anything else," commented Mr. Stutchbury.

Together with Earl Wolff, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee they predicted the public would be better acquainted with the law following the Safety Week campaign next month.

"It's a matter requiring both education and enforcement. I would suggest that police crack down on offenders following Safety Week," said Mr. Blake.

Mr. Stutchbury stated, to the best of his knowledge, little was being done by police to enforce the law at present. This is in marked contrast with police action elsewhere, he said, especially in such places as California and Ontario.

POLICE WELL AWARE

Chief Constable Reg Jennings said police were well aware of the situation and that traffic tickets have been given out for crosswalk violations. He urged drivers to pay closer attention to crosswalks and show greater courtesy.

Police traffic division reported no estimate could be given of the number of tickets issued for violations of this nature.

Here's a cross-section of crosswalkers opinion:

"Whenever I bring my small baby downtown with me to shop, it's almost worth our lives to cross the street," said Mrs. W. Chessuck, 7522-109 street.

NOT AT COAST

"You could never get away with this kind of driving in Vancouver," commented Lt. Robin Bonnycastle, reserve army officer from Vancouver.

An Edmonton housewife, who declined to give her name, summed it up with this witticism:

"Drivers around here are certainly a gallant lot. They just try to sweep you off your feet."

BEMBRIDGE, Isle of Wight, England.—(CP)—Bembridge parish council has at last found an office. It was a 10-foot square air-raid shelter when councillor T. R. Parsons found it. Townsfolk have named the office "Parson's Parlour."

Canadians Soon Earn Respect of Americans

Canada's Thunderbird squadron—its men and its machines—has earned respect of the Americans for its work in the Korean airlift.

This report was brought back by the RCAF chief public relations officer, Flt. Lt. W. M. Lee, who passed through Edmonton yesterday returning from Tokyo.

All seven North Stars being flown by the Canadian squadron have now completed their first round trip from McChord field to Tokyo and back.

"The Americans were amazed when we completed our first round trip in three and half days," he said.

"But they haven't seen anything yet," he added. "We expect to cut it down to something like 55 hours."

Flt. Lt. Lee said the Canadian North Stars have proven more than 10 per cent faster than their American counterparts. The PRO flew with the first aircraft to make the flight.

Dangers of the airlift operation were dramatized by his description of the first North Star landing in the Aleutians.

"The ceiling was down 200 feet," he said. "We came in on GCA (ground control radar). It was pretty nerve wracking. We came down and down and the old clock went around and round. Couldn't see a thing.

"Then some high tension wires loomed up. We turned and slipped over them. Then we saw the field and dropped into it."

He told how the pilot, one of the most experienced in the RCAF transport command, slumped over his controls after the plane was safely down while all crew members congratulated him.

The North Star's already fast schedule will be speeded, he said, when 'slip crews' are based along the route. Under this system, it will not be necessary for one crew to fly the aircraft all the way across the ocean and return.

At present, Canadian fliers are keeping up a nerve-wracking pace, he said. One crew went 26 hours without sleep, 22 of them in the air.

The North Stars, whose merits have long been argued in Canada, are standing up well on the long flights with no trouble so far. From a maintenance point of view they are equally as good as the American planes, the PRO stated.

Three pilots are used on the long trans-ocean hop which takes the planes north to Alaska, the Aleutians, and south of Tokyo.

Conciliation Officer Probes Wages Dispute

Secretary of the Alberta department of industries and labor, H. E. Bendickson will attempt to conciliate a wage dispute between the city of Edmonton and local transit workers.

The city's 450 transit workers, members of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America, Local 569, are seeking wage increases.

The workers originally asked for a 22 cent an hour increase in pay, three week's vacation with pay after three years' service, a five-cent an hour differential in wages for nightshift work and a $30 a month increase in wages of inspectators.

Since their original request, the increases asked have been modified considerably, it was learned today.

A preliminary conciliation meeting conducted by Mr. Bendickson has already been held and "some progress" was made.

Other city employes, members of the Civic Employes' Federal Labor Union, Local 30, will take their request for higher wages to an arbitration board.

The workers are seeking an average hourly wage increase of 12 cents, with an additional ten cent an hour increase in wages of certain classifications of workers.

Members of the arbitration board which will consider the dispute will be named shortly.

Wheat Price Stand Taken

Directors of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture today said the Canadian government has "sole responsibility" for making a reasonable and substantial payment for wheat delivered by prairie farmers under the four-year Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement.

The federation commented on a statement June 5 by Trade Minister Howe that Britain has taken the position it has fulfilled all obligations under the "have regard to" clause of the agreement. This would premit price adjustment to meet changing world conditions.

"The AFA is emphatic in stating that if the world price of wheat had declined the 'have regard to' clause would have been used to lower the price in the final settlement," said a statement by the federation.

"As it is, the general price level has been continually rising and so have the farmers' living and operating costs."

G. L. Stewart, president, announced the figures today in a letter to shareholders.

Northern Alberta Settlement Plan

Dutch May Move Two Million To Farm Within Province

Rich lands around Edmonton and Calgary have been recommended for settlement of Dutch farmers.

The Peace River area also has been recommended.

Plans for immigration of 2,000,000 members of Netherlands farm families to western Canada were disclosed in Grand Rapids, Mich., today by Richard Machiele, Kent County farm agent.

Machiele travelled 11,000 miles in Canada studying the immigration project for the Reformed Church in America.

Since the last war, some 28,000 Netherlands families have settled in Canada, mostly in Ontario.

Religious denominations in the Netherlands are fostering immigration to this country at the rate of 10,000 families a year.

Machiele was accompanied by Rev. Gerrit Vander Wolde, a resettlement official of the Reformed Church stationed at Cochrane, Alta.

NOT INFORMED

Settlement scheme suggested by Mr. Machiele has not been brought to the attention of the Alberta government, Hon. A. J. Hooke, minister of economic affairs, commented today.

Mr. Hooke said his department, under which the province's immigration branch operates, has not been informed of the proposal.

The fresh-water area of Canada constitutes over six per cent of the total area of the country.

Rat Colony Exterminated

First colony of rats to establish itself in the province of Alberta has been exterminated, provincial health authorities believe.

The rat infestation was discovered on a farm at Alsask on the Alberta-Saskatchewan border several weeks ago.

Provincial health department crews killed three of the rats and used carbon monoxide to gas the colony's runways.

Farmers in the same area have been alerted to report further infestations of brown Norway rats and to assist in keeping Alberta North America's only rat-free area.

Mine Inquest At Month End

Provincial department of mines investigation into the Cadomin mine disaster of June 14 is continuing, John Crawford, director of mines, said today.

Findings of the department investigators will be presented at a coroner's inquest scheduled for the end of August.

Parliament Called

So far as Canadians are concerned, the vital part of Prime Minister St. Laurent's message to the nation is not his announcement that the cabinet proposes to send a brigade to fight in the Korean war but his corollary announcement that Parliament will be called together to confirm this decision.

Along with hundreds of thousands of other Canadians, The Edmonton Bulletin is of the opinion that Canada should send ground forces to assist the effort of the United Nations to resist Communist aggression in the Far East.

We believe that the most effective way to check the present threat of world war is to confront Russian imperialism with a powerful, united and well-prepared democratic defense.

But we believe, too, as we said emphatically some two weeks ago that the decision to participate in this or any other war should come from the elected representatives of the people and not from the cabinet.

We urged then that Parliament be summoned to consider all the aspects of the present menacing situation.

Therefore we believe that Prime Minister St. Laurent has taken a wise and democratic step in deciding, with his colleagues, to prepare as completely as possible a picture of the whole world situation and to present that picture without reservation to the senate and the house of commons.

This action raises the hope that Canada, in her international relations, has stepped out of the secret and autocratic role formulated by her ministers during the last war and proposes to conduct the foreign affairs of the country and the domestic regulations necessitated by them, not by order-in-council, but by the vote of an enlightened people.

No one is so naive to believe that the sending of ground forces to Korea will exhaust Canada's responsibilities in the maintenance of world peace.

The menace that lies in the European situation will have to be carefully scrutinized. There are a thousand and one other factors to be considered. The entire problem of national defence, military and civilian, must be canvassed exhaustively.

During the last war, the government tended to make the decisions in council and come to Parliament for a rubber stamp approval.

Mr. St. Laurent appears to think otherwise.

He is to be congratulated on a plain and forthright statement and upon his evident intention to take the Canadian people entirely into his confidence.

Contentions Are Becoming Silly

Studying some of the arguments presented by the opposition in the Detwiler project hearing, the public can only come to the conclusion that the opponents of the plan are pretty hard up for verbal ammunition when they have to descend to the frivolous nonsense written into the record during the past several days.

The Board of Public Utilities Commissioners is a busy and an important body. It deals with so many diversified matters that The Edmonton Bulletin was moved to suggest, two years ago, that the number of its members be increased so it could sit in two sections.

It seems to be a pity, then, that this overworked Board should be compelled to listen to such suggestions as these:

1. That because there was no clamor for a Miracle Mile in 1890, there can be no need for it today.

2. That the plan is dangerous because an "ignoramus" might be put in as manager and might "run the thing into the ground."

With regard to the first contention, the fallacy is so obvious that a child could detect it.

With regard to the second, it might be permissible to enquire if the First New Amsterdam Corporation would be so idiotic as to put a fool in charge when the corporation has a greater stake in the profits than the city.

The New York parties to the contract are hardly likely to jeopardize the city's return in this manner when their own interests would be in still greater jeopardy.

The Board of Public Utilities Commissioners, we presume, considers itself bound, in all fairness, to listen to all kinds of evidence.

It seems to be a heavy load to ask such a busy board to assume.

For the Benefit of Agriculture

The importance of the University of Alberta's new plant science field laboratory cannot be too strongly emphasized.

The $50,000 building's effect on this province's agricultural future promises to be out of all proportion to the relatively small investment.

Dr. Alaf S. Aamodt, principal agronomist of the U.S. department of agriculture, said at the official opening that the new plant will enable the present capable research staff to do two things.

Farmers all over the province will be materially assisted in bettering their agricultural practices, thus building a more solid basis under Alberta's main industry.

The university will also be able to make available to other countries the very latest in plant science research. Many of these countries are now seeking United Nations assistance in getting their agriculture onto a sound basis, because they have failed to recognize the contribution technical men can make to the betterment of farming.

Dr. Aamodt stressed the fact that research men generally fall heir to field laboratory space when tractors replace horses. The researchers then get the horse barns. He cited new laboratory facilities recently opened at Lethbridge, where the horse stalls were not yet removed for the formal opening.

Among the more spectacular results produced by adequate field laboratories is the effect on plant growth of the length of day. "One of the most important factors in plant science," Dr. Aamodt described it.

It is commendable that university authorities have taken steps to provide their research staff with the new facilities.

Anything which puts a more solid base under this province's agriculture is to be welcomed. Because while oil development may be icing Alberta's cake, let no one forget that agriculture provides the wherewithal to bake the cake.

Letters to the Editor

Thanks Mr. Weir

Editor, Bulletin—Thanks very much, Harold Weir, for that reply to that certain patriot who dislikes the English.

I, too, value very much England and all the co-operative countries who stood between a lot of certain patriots and hordes of people like myself against Hitler and maniacal helpers.

On the same page I read a letter from Tex Macleod from across the border. Thank you, Mr. Macleod, but please control your wishful thinking re the Canadian flag. I think and hope your ideas respecting this are years and years away. You run your show.

I think Canada is quite able to do the same without consolidation of the Maple Leaf and the Stars and Stripes. Thanking you.

Saturday I forget it on the "L," Ah,

CHARLES S. ADELMAN

Compulsory Taxation

Editor, Bulletin: The prize for the top fantasy of 1950 should go to Pat Ashby's letter in the Saturday Bulletin.

I mean one in which he calls compulsory taxation a method of robbery. Compulsory? Is there any other kind? Mr. A. seems to think there is, because he says, "History reveals that compulsion has only been used by governments led by fear-ridden incompetents who could not face realities."

That is where the fantasy came in, for without compulsion (or the threat of compulsion, which is the same thing) there can be no governing and no government, and Mr. A. places himself alongside the anarchists.

In going to such extremes in his efforts to denounce "relatively easy living" civil servants and "social perverts," Mr. Ashby merely succeeded in weakening his case. His no-compulsion, no-government theory is just as ridiculous as the all-compulsion, all-government one attempted by Messrs. Benito, Adolf and Joe.

As for the "tax vampires," Mr. A. should know that extension of government activities, and therefore increasing taxation, is the natural product of the existing democratic machinery. Unless he wants to throw democracy overboard completely, his only course would seem to be to advocate some alteration and modernization of that machinery.

But how is he going to overhaul it and still leave out the engine (compulsion)?

Matter of fact, I doubt whether Mr. Ashby is as strongly opposed to all compulsion as he makes out. Take his "solution," for instance. Just what means will private business use to follow his advice, viz, "to resist all compulsion with greater force than can be exerted upon it"?

Would private business invoke the power of government? Or has it some secret weapon, known only to itself and to Mr. A?

I would leave with him this problem: When the resistance becomes greater than the force, which, then, is the force and which the resistance?

World Police

Editor, Bulletin: The need for a world police force is more evident and more urgent today than ever before. The world can no more live in peace without world morality than can any local community without its laws and policemen to enforce these laws. As long as a single state practices violence, every other state must follow suit. As long as any state arms to the hilt every state must do likewise. Only a strong UN police force can offer the opportunity for peace to a yearning humanity.

The core of a world police force must be an international contingent recruited from the smaller states, well paid, highly trained and very well equipped. They would be stationed in strategic bases throughout the world and would be under direct control of the UN the first to move against an aggressor on the majority vote of the Security Council.

The military forces of the greater states such as the United States, Britain, France, perhaps India and Pakistan, would remain in the custody of their own respective governments but would be obligated as members of the UN to aid it in suppressing any aggression. The total strength of the world police force would be the international contingent plus the national contingents of the great states.

Such a procedure would make the UN our first line of defence. It would greatly increase the security of all states, even the greatest. It would establish the most powerful system of collective security in history. Above all, it would be the greatest deterrent to Soviet aggression, for there is nothing the Russian leaders respect more than force. But force must be organized to be effective. After we are attacked in a full scale war it will be too late.

We must, in the name of survival, organize the resources of the non-Communist world in a giant system of collective security to suppress aggression and create morality on earth. Failure to act quickly is to invite a disastrous war from which we may not emerge victorious.

Morris Farmers In Dire Straits

(Columnist Jack Scott is on a cross-Canada tour with his family in automobile and trailer.—EDITOR).

MORRIS, Man.—A few days ago a delegation of some 400 farmers, representing the grain growers whose fields were flooded this year by the Red river, went to Winnipeg to ask Premier D. L. Campbell and his coalition cabinet what was going to happen to them.

They went back to their farms next day with a ringing assurance from the premier that "I am not losing sight of the problems of flood victims."

It was an empty promise for a farmer like Charles "Dixie" Dixon who has 660 acres a few miles north of Morris, and one of hundreds hereabouts who know the bitter taste of ruin.

Dixon is a handsome, English-born middle-aged man with a black, military moustache, a one-time junior bank executive who turned to farming and made a success of it.

Taken For Granted

As we drove out to his farm this morning, "Dixie" Dixon spoke with the bitterness you come to take for granted in Morris.

"I'm not mixed up in any kind of politics, but I vote Liberal," he said. "The men I helped put in office have failed miserably in getting the farmer out of this mess. What you see in Morris is a town dying on its feet. There'll be almost no crop here this year. A great many of us are going to need relief from the municipality to keep us alive, to get seed for next spring, to get fuel to keep our tractors running.

"So far there's been nothing at all done, or announced, to let us know how we stand.

Dixon's farm house is a stone's throw from the Red river.

It seems incredible that this limpid, brown, sluggish stream, lying deep down between its banks, is the same swollen river I saw last May. Standing at the top of the bank on the prairie level I noticed a power line eight or 10 feet above my head. A great cluster of straw like a stork's nest had been caught on the cable, a weird water-mark.

The large, gabled farm house, an immense new barn and the other buildings stood like gaunt derelicts. Two small buildings had been torn from their foundations and had floated a short distance away. Inside the piggery the grey silt was thigh-high.

Dixon stood looking around at this disorder with his jaw out.

"The men around here have been great," he said. "They're all pitching right in. But it gives you a down-deep, hopeless feeling when you see the amount of work that's got to be done. You just don't know where to start."

Some of the returning farmers seeded their land, late as it was. About 10 per cent of the flooded land was seeded, six weeks late. Dixon and other experienced men I talked with say this was done in desperation. An early frost will put these farmers still deeper in the hole.

Even working the land as summer fallow as Dixon is doing is difficult since the oil companies have suspended credit to flooded farmers. (It costs Dixon about $800 a year for fuel for his machines.)

"Most farmers live on credit," he pointed out. "The harvest is the payoff. Now we can't expect a crop until the fall of 1951. Just means that those farmers with some capital will have to use it. The poor fellow who lives from year to year will have to get what municipal relief he can".

Year And Half Before Crop

Dixon, himself, will be living for the next 16 months' on the cash from the sale of his 40 head of Black Angus beef cattle. "We'll get by," he says, "but we will be paupers this time next year. It'll be a long time before we have cattle again."

Like the others I met, Dixon is not ungrateful for the help he is getting.

"We are getting assistance in restoring the house and furniture and the money donated by the rest of Canada is being fairly spent," he told me, "but, for us on the farms, it is just a beginning. We desperately need a farm assistance program, compensation for our unseeded acreage, help in getting credit to see us through.

Can't See It In Winnipeg

We walked over to what had obviously been a well-equipped tool shed. Now the implements were rusted and caked with mud and lay in a tangle that was evidence of the flood water's swift current.

"This is the kind of picture they can't seem to grasp up in Winnipeg," Dixie Dixon said. "How a man is expected to go about replacing this sort of mess I don't know. The government just shrugs or makes some noise intended to be encouraging and in actual fact have done nothing. The rumor is that we're to get some help if there's money left over from the Canada-wide fund. It seems to me we're entitled to more than rumors."

PITCHING HORSESHOES By Billy Rose

There Are Reasons Why He Didn't Buy Rolls Royce

A couple of week ends ago, the missus and I were driving up to the country in our '41 gas buggy when it stalled on a hill outside of Tarrytown and the radiator began to boil up like a miniature Bikini.

"Don't you think it's time we got a new car," asked Eleanor, "or should we wait until the axles fall off?"

Billy Rose

The following Monday, primped, preened and pomaded, I walked into the Rolls Royce agency.

Yes, you read it right — the Rolls Royce agency! And before you throw that soapbox at me, let me explain.

Ever since I was knee-high to the Allen Street gutter, I've yenned, above all else, to own one of these regal runabouts. Somehow, for reasons best left to psychiatrists, I've never been able to pass one without picturing myself in its lush, plush confines, daintily holding the speaking tube with lifted pinky and giving the hoi polloi the Marie Antoinette treatment.

"Since I have to buy a car," I said to myself, "it might as well be the luxurious lizzie I've always dreamed about, even if it means hocking a couple of insurance policies."

The salesman, a natty little man whose accent you could cut with a crumpet, let me inspect one of the British beauties.

"Would you like to see how it runs?" he said. "I'll have one of our men drive you."

As I climbed in, I could feel my blood blueing up.

"We'll go down Broadway," said the chauffeur, "and you can see how it performs in traffic."

A shudder ran through me. There's a red light on 51st street, and I knew that if this bejabbers buggy stopped in front of Lindy's, the songwriters and vaudeville agents were a cinch to come running out and pelt me with pastrami sandwiches.

"They're digging up the street on Times Square," I said.

"How about the East River Drive?" said the chauffeur. "We can cut across Delancey Street and come up the West Side Highway."

My shudder turned into a quake. Somewhere on the East Side I figured to be spotted by an old poolroom pal, and I envisioned the words, "You stink, Jack," being chalked on the elegant fenders. Even a rock through the windshield was a distinct possibility.

Central Park Is Nice, Too

"Ride around Central Park," I said. "It's nice this time of the year."

As I settled back into the form-fitting upholstery, I began to do some hard thinking, and the more I thought about it the more I realized that if I bought me a Rolls Royce there was literally no place I could go with it in this town.

If Eleanor and I got out of it in front of a theatre on opening night, the mob we know would split their sides laughing, and the columns next day would be asking whether Lord and Lady Rose were finding it hard to buy petrol instead of gas.

The only thing on the credit side was that if I owned a Rolls I'd be sure to get plenty of exercise—I'd never have the courage to park it less than ten blocks from my usual hangouts.

"It's too much automobile for me," I said to the salesman when we pulled in. "Besides, I just remembered—I get carsick."

An hour later I had made a down payment on one of the standard Detroit jobs, and I guess the moral of the story is that a hepcat may look at a king, but he'd rather not try to ride around like one.

Worshippers once purged should have no more consciousness of sins.—Heb. 10:2.

South African UN Trouble Shooter

By RICHARD WITKIN
United Press Staff Writer

The day after the invasion of South Korea, two of Secretary-General Trygve Lie's top aides were lunching in the United Nations Delegates' dining room at Lake Success, threshing a hopper-full of urgent problems.

One matter in particular had them stymied; who was the best man available to be sent to Korea to act as Lie's personal representative?

The two officials, Andrew W. Cordier, Lie's executive assistant, and his legal expert, A. H. Feller, tossed up and batted down one possibility after another.

Then Feller happened to glance at the next table, caught sight of the greying, impressive-looking South African colonel who had been serving as one of Lie's trouble-shooters, and said: "How about Al?"

Katzin Was On His Way

And that is how Col. Alfred G. Katzin popped into one of the most difficult and delicate assignments in U.N. history. In no time, the choice had been approved by Lie. In a few days, after cabling his family in South Africa not to worry, Katzin was on his way to Tokyo and South Korea.

As Lie's personal emissary, Katzin is busy directing the non-military phases of the UN's effort to restore peace in the Asiatic peninsula. He reports to the UN high command here almost daily by telephone, keeping headquarters up to date on fast-moving developments.

He went to become the head of the secretariat team that has been serving in Korea with the UN's watchdog commission.

The 44-year-old South African colonel is tall, prepossessing-looking, and allergic to red tape. He can run a complex operation, military or civilian, with force and efficiency.

Colonel's title is deceptive. Katzin is not essentially a military man. He found himself picked out for important war-time and post-war administrative posts because of a rare executive talent he had displayed in the South African commercial investment field.

Those commercial activities have made him independently wealthy.

Men who have worked closely with Katzin agree that he is highly intelligent and charming. From a professional point of view, they are all struck by his knack for sizing up a jumbled situation, making a quick decision and ending up with an efficient administrative machine with all former loose ends no longer in view.

On War Supply Job

In World War II, as a colonel, Katzin put his talent to work helping direct the movement of supplies (logistics, as the army calls it) for allied force headquarters in the Mediterranean—first in Algiers, then in Caserta, Italy.

Eventually, he concentrated on civil supply for liberated areas in the Balkans.

When the war ended, Herbert H. Lehman, now senator from New York, picked Katzin to be deputy director-general of UNRRA's vast relief operations in charge of administration. He later switched from the regional office in London to serve as deputy director-general and chief executive officer under Gen. Lowell Rocks, who took over UNRRA from Lehman.

Katzin's UN career has been chiefly as a "trouble shooter" for Lie and his high command.

At the 1948 General Assembly in Paris, he worked on the general plan for the first UN relief agency for Palestine refugees.

Until the critical Korean assignment turned up, Katzin was being actively considered for an important position in the UN's expanded program for technical aid to backward areas. It may well be that he will wind up in such a post depending on the outcome of the Korean crisis.

U.S. Press Wrong About Our Army

There are some astonishing misstatements about Canada in the U.S. press. The prize example was an editorial in the Arizona Star which said:

"Think of it, Canada, a great wealthy country of 12,000,000 rugged, enterprising people, has only 3,000 men (the three battalions) available for her defence."

It would be hard to imagine a more nonsensible and untrue statement. The brigade to which the Arizona paper refers is the only permanent professional army that Canada keeps under arms as a mobile striking force. But we also have, fairly well trained, a large reserve army. In an emergency, this army could take the field in a matter of days. In a matter of weeks, it would be possible for Canada to organize a force of three or four divisions.

Contrary to the ridiculous, unfair and quite untrue statements in ill-informed papers like the Arizona Star, Canada is spending no less than $425 million on her army, navy or air force in the year 1950.

Worked Out Internationally

The kind of force we get for the $425 million has not been worked out by Canada alone. It was worked out, in part, by the Joint North American Defence Board—on which the U.S. and Canada are equally represented—and in part by the ministers on the Council of the North Atlantic Pact.

In both cases, Canada has done—fully and on time — exactly what she was asked to do. The Airborne Brigade to which the Arizona Star refers so contemptuously is, in fact, a tailor-made outfit designed to deal with possible Russian air or sea-borne attacks on Northern Canada, or, if called on, to help repel an attack on Alaska.

It would have been the height of folly for Canada to have flung into the battle for Korea the Airborne Brigade which was trained for the Arctic job—if and when.

Canada's military policy of the past few years has been quite as intelligently planned as it was before either of the first world wars—both of which we were in from start to finish.

Never Large Standing Army

We never have had yet in Canada a large standing army. But we always had the officers, technicians, arms and partially trained men able to put in the field in a matter of months an army of several divisions.

Stated in another way, here is the truth. Canada has the setup, right now, which would enable her to put in the decisive battlefields at least five full divisions within a year of the outbreak of a major war.

Meanwhile, we have on the job, available 24 hours of every day, a large reserve army capable of dealing with any probable attack on Canadian territory.

Can the United States say as much? Her population is 11 or 12 times greater than Canada's. How long would it take the U.S.A. to raise, train and put into the field say 50 or 60 divisions?

My bet is that in the event of another world war (which God forbid) that we in Canada will have five or six divisions ready and fit to fight before Uncle Sam has 50 or 60.

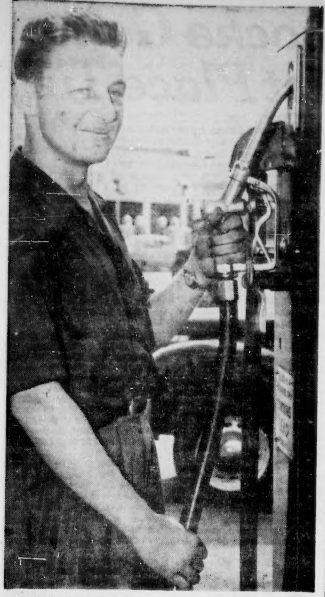
Canada Stands On Own Feet

But this should be made crystal clear from the start. Up here in Canada we do not believe in "taxation without representation." We are not getting automatically involved in any and every campaign, everywhere in the world, just because Uncle Sam has become involved.

We fought that assumption for well over 100 years and killed the colonial-mindedness which tried to tell us that "when England is at war, Canada is at war."

When Winston Churchill and Lloyd George tried to stampede us into a war with Turkey in 1922, in effect, we told them, "go take a jump in the lake."

If we send men to war, it will be because our elected MPs decide on that course—not because ignorant ex-isolationists in the U.S.A. goad or insult us.



FIFTY DOLLAR SMILE belongs to 21-year-old Ron Phillips, 12127-86 street. Phillips, employed at Waterloo Motors Ltd. found a wallet containing $850 by a gas pump. He handed it into office where owner, Louis McCook, of Calgary, later collected it. Reward of $50 was shared with Phillips' friend and fellow-worker, Fred Oakley.

New Sabre Jet Passes First Flight Test Well

MONTREAL, Aug. 9.—(CP)—Canada's new F-86 Sabre jet fighter plane successfully completed its first flight tests at Dorval airport here today before Defence Minister Claxton and top-ranking Australian and Canadian air force officials.

The sleek, stubby-winged plane, the first of 100 ordered by the RCAF for interceptor fighter squadrons, was built by Canadair Ltd of Montreal.

Test pilot for the flight was Capt. A. J. Lilly of Montreal, chief test pilot for Canadair and veteran of 13 years of commercial and test flying.

Taking off at 9:55 a.m. EDT the plane circled the airfied at low level before climbing almost vertically to 20,000 feet for performance tests. After 15 minutes of banking, turning and diving, it glided back to the airstrip for further checks before being handed over to the RCAF.

COMPLETE SUCCESS

The test was made under near-perfect flying conditions and was pronounced a complete success by test pilot Lilly

"She handled like a dream," he said. ""My only trouble was with my ears popping when she climbed. That's a lot of airplane."

Following the test flight of the F-86, Canada's twin-engine jet fighter, the CF-100 "Canuck," gave a demonstration.

The angular plane, painted a shiny black with silver trim, was flown here from Toronto yesterday by Edmonton's Bill Waterton, who hung up a new speed record for the distance of 30 minutes and 10 seconds.

West Europe Army Urged

STRASBOURG, France, Aug. 9.—(UP)—Winston Churchill will propose to the Council of Europe's consultative assembly tomorrow that a Western European army be created to guard the continent against Communist aggression, it was reported reliably last night.

The former British prime minister will offer a formal resolution in behalf of the Conservative party wing of the British delegation attending the council's session.

Churchill's intentions became known shortly after Robert Boothby, a spokesman for the Conservative wing of the British delegation, called for immediate rearamament of Germany. He said Western Europe could never defend itself against aggression without German help.

Wallace Quits Pro-Red Party Over War Stand

SOUTH SALEM, N.Y., Aug. 9.—(UP)—Henry A. Wallace quit the Progressive Party he founded, today, because of its pro-Communist stand on the Korean war and retired to his farm to experiment with hybrid strawberries and corn.

Wallace became a man without a party by sending a curt two-paragraph note to C. B. Baldwin, Progressive Party secretary, yesterday, saying "I can more effectively serve the cause of peace by resigning."

Coroner's Inquest Held at Cold Lake

Jury Renders Split Decision On Fatal Highway Accident

COLD LAKE, Aug. 9—A crowded community hall listened in hushed attention recently, as a coroner's jury rendered a split decision in the highway collision June 17, in which two persons were killed.

Highlighting the inquiry was 28-year-old Francis Munson, driver of one of the cars, who told how his wife Hazel, holding five-months-old daughter Elaine in her arms, met her death on the highway three miles south of Cold Lake. In the back seat, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Henry Lucas was also killed.

The baby Elaine is still in Edmonton hospital and his other daughter, two-year-old Brenda, who was flown to Edmonton for treatment on a broken bone in her back, has recovered and returned to Riverhurst.

SAW CAR

Mr. Munson reported he was driving south to the Lucas home near Grande Centre when he saw the Laplante car coming to meet him. It appeared to stay on the wrong side of the road, he stated, and in an effort to avoid a collision, he swerved also to the wrong side of the road, just as the driver of the other car, Armand Laplante, guided his black Dodge towards the edge of his proper side of the road.

Questioned by Cpt. Tom McNally, RCMP, as to why he didn't take to the ditch, which at that point was broad and sloped, Munson, who had spent some time in the Decker Lake area of BC, stated he had been used to driving in the mountains.

Armand Laplante, driver of the other car, could only recall a glimmering light and then the crash at the time of the accident. His sister, Emma, is still in Edmonton hospital with a broken neck and crushed pelvis.

Following the day long enquiry, the jury reached a split decision. Jurors were: W. O. Clark, Dick Demeriez, Darnell Dery, A. W. Daniel, John Breslahan and Charles Pinsky.

CLIVE HAS LIGHT FROST

One gardener reported his beans, corn and cucumbers were damaged, and farmers report white frost. In the Chigwell district frost was reported to have done damage to gardens.

Naval Guns To Be Made At Sorel, Que.

OTTAWA, Aug. 9—(CP)—Canada and the United States are planning heavy programs in the construction of naval guns for employment on escort vessels and the decision already has been reached to place these orders in Sorel, Que., munitions plants.

This was gleaned from authoritative sources after Hubert E. Howard, chairman of the United States Munitions Board, disclosed to the Canadian Press last night that the U.S. has decided, among other things, to place "huge" orders for 3.5-inch guns in Canada.

Mr. Howard, here for the Canada-United States industrial mobilization committee meeting, said the U.S. also was considering the purchase in Canada of heavy supplies of aircraft and aircraft parts, some clothing, vehicles and ships.

A Canadian source later amplified Mr. Howard's disclosure. He said the biggest part of the guns order would go to the U.S., but that Canada would obtain a small share for her own navy.

As the plan unfolded, it appeared that Canada would embark on a program of accepting American pattern equipment for her troops as a means of getting modern equipment at low cost.

Contracts for the guns, he added, would be arranged under the current Canada-U.S. arms reciprocity arrangement, completed after the authorities found a loophole in the restrictive Buy American Act of 1934.

Strategy Talk Bars Soviet

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Aug. 9—(UP)—The United States today invited all members of the Security Council except the Soviet Union to a strategy conference late this afternoon to decide on means of getting around Russia's obstruction in the path of United Nations business.

The Americans for the first time cited Russia by name yesterday as the power behind the Communist invasion of South Korea.

The U.S. then forced an adjournment of the Council until Thursday and recommended that the "other delegations consult together to determine what steps we can take to assert the authority of the Security Council in the event that the Soviet government continues its campaign to prevent its president from acting."

MILLET, Aug. 9—Clarence E. Litke, of Vancouver, has sailed for Korea on HMCS Cayuga. His wife will be visiting the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. G. Litke in Millet.

Crops Stripped By Hailstorm

CALGARY, Aug. 9.—(CP)—A hailstorm in the Stavely district 60 miles southeast of Calgary last night stripped 15,000 to 20,000 acres of crops.

The storm also damaged property, knocked holes in flat roofs and stripped leaves from trees.

Starting nine miles west of Stavely, the hail downpour moved in a four-mile-wide strip for about 18 miles. Crops in a two-mile strip in the centre of the storm belt suffered 100 per cent damage.

TROUBLE AT RACES

Man Asks $5,000 Damages After Nags Run Over Him

A statement of claim for $5,000 damages has been entered at the Edmonton courthouse by a man who went to the races at a friends' invitation—and got run over by the horses.

The plaintiff is Robert Magee, 12023-82 street. He is asking the $5,000 of C. L. Foran, Holden, Alta. Foran, Magee says in his statement, invited him to attend the Holden stampede June 15, 1949.

While at the stampede Magee claimed he was knocked down and trampled by race horses while he was crossing the track to reach an amusement centre in the track oval.

He entered the track through an open gate, Magee's statement relates. The first he knew a race was on was when he looked up and saw "race horses bearing down."

The $5,000 he is asking includes medical expenses arising from injuries received when the horses ran over him.

Magee also wants $1,200 for loss of wages "to date" and $3,500 for "pain and suffering from an injured leg."

The statement claims there was no bar, guard or warning posted at the track and that it was not properly fenced.

Besides being described as the friend who invited Magee to come to the rodeo, Foran is also named as one of the operators of the amusement centre Magee said he was trying to reach when he was trampled.

Aquatic Stars in Daily Workouts as Alberta Championships Near

EYEING provincial swimming championships to be held at West End pool Friday, Saturday nights many local aces have been practicing regularly. John Windwick assists Lorna Culver from water, left, during recent workout. At right Doris Elliott makes it under own steam.

Locke Gains 1st Place Tie

CHICAGO, Aug. 9—(AP)—Exiled from United States fairways for more than a year under a Professional Golfers Association ban, Bobby Locke returned yesterday with a vengeance to sweep into a 72-hole tie with Lloyd Mandrum for the Tam O'Shanter All-American golf title.

Both closed their fourth round with 67s for a six-under-par tally of 282, forcing an 18-hole playoff today. A first prize of $2,500 is at stake.

It was Locke's rusty-blade putter which once again proved the fatal weapon.

The South African, fresh from winning the British Open and a batch of other British events, birdied four of the last five holes with putts of 32, 12, 30 and 22 feet.

This closing drive, one of the greatest in the 10-year history of the colorful Tam O'Shanter gold rush, gave him a five-under 31 on the back nine to couple with his standard front side of 36.

Locke was banned by the PGA last June when he failed to fulfil a contract to appear at the Toledo Inverness Invitational. He previously had shunned several exhibition dates.

The ban was lifted on him this April by the PGA and Locke made the Tam meet his first on his return to the U.S.

Locke was playing with Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., who finished with a birdie three for a 70 for 283 and third place worth $1,500.

In a tie for fourth, each pocketing $750, were Sam Snead, leading money winner of 1950, and Jim Ferrier. Snead closed with a 69 for 285, while Ferrier took 68.

Grouped at 286, each getting $493.75, were Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., with a final 72; Chandler Harper, the PGA champ from Portsmouth, Va., with 69; Ed Furgol of Royal Oak, Mich., the 54-hole leader with a blow-up 75 after taking 36 putts; and Skip Alexander of Knoxville, Tenn., with 73.

ALSO PAPROSKI

Esks Unload Elmore Harris

Spectators at last night's football workout at Clarke Stadium (numbering several hundred) were giving each player the once-over seeking the answer to a couple of questions that had them guessing.

"Where's Elmore Harris?" and, "Is the new import fullback out there?"

Harris, a fleet-footed former New York Yankee backfielder, had, as a matter of fact, been advised to seek other pastures.

He came here on his own and Manager Al Anderson said, "He just' isn't going to fit in, we have other things in mind."

As for the much talked about U.S. fullback, the Eskimo manager stated, "We expect to close the deal sometime this week, and are witholding his name for security reasons.

So the $64 question remains to be answered, "Who is the new import to be?"

★ ★ ★

Also missing from last night's rough practice session, were Steve Paproski, Nick Albert and George Shortreed. They were out from the squad at the weekend.

Paproski, centre last season with Esks, is heading for the University of Arizona this season on a scholarship. It also is rumored that big Gene Kiniski will line up with the Arizonans this fall.

★ ★ ★

The tossing Texan, quarterback Lindy Berry, was still cooped up in bed last night, resting his injured knee. Berry wrenched his knee during Sunday's scrimmage. It is reported he'll be back early next week.

Don Narrell and Frank Morris also are still sidelined.

★ ★ ★

Jim Quandamatteo is one good reason why Montreal Alouettes won the Grey Cup last year. His blocking is deadly and last night he showed why Baz O'Meara (Montreal Star) wrote, "Quandamatteo will be Alouettes' biggest loss."

He not only took out his man during offensive, but also found time to floor one of the secondary, which is the difference between a lineman and a 'good lineman.'

★ ★ ★

Bill Hortie, last year with the provincial junior champion Maple Leafs, looked good in last night's workout filling the role of fullback. Others stealing the show were hard-tackling Bill Briggs, Tom Cleary and flashy Doug Pyzer. . . . Taking in the workout from the sidelines was Harry Irving, last season with Esks and later quarterback for McGill College Redmen.

Anavets Still Hot, Down Singers 5-3

Anavets, who just made the third and last playoff spot in the Senior Men's Fastball league, took a big step towards the loop title by whipping Singers 5-3 at Kingsway last night.

Big Ted Kiehlbaugh, as he did in the series opener, hurled Anavets to their triumph. He scattered eight hits and struck out nine.

Win gave Art Delmar's Anavets a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven final. It was 'Vets' 12th win in 13 starts and was fashioned in spite of the lusty hitting of Singers' shortstop Colin Kilburn.

HAD A BIG FIGHT

Kilburn walloped a pair of home runs and a double in four trips to the plate. He staked Singers to a 1-0 lead in the second by parking Kiehlbaugh's first pitch of the inning on the other side of the scoreboard.

Kilburn doubled in the fourth and hit his second home run of the evening in the ninth. Like his first four-bagger, Kilburn chose Kiehlbaugh's first pitch.

The ball went over the fence in left-centre field, one of the longest hits seen at Kingsway this season.

But Kilburn took himself too seriously. In the sixth stanza the Anavet hurler was going to give Kilburn an intentional pass.

KIEHLBAUGH IRKED

However, the Singers' shortstop came out with a vocal barrage that slightly irked Kiehlbaugh. He made Kilburn pop up harmlessly to second-sacker Joe Sereda.

Anavets tallied all their runs over the fifth and sixth frames as Singers went bobbie-happy and threw the ball away as if handling a hot potato.

Jack Jackowich paced the winners with a pair of hits, including a triple in the sixth.

FOR SUGAR RAY

Last Fight As Welter

By Jack Hand

JERSEY CITY, Aug. 9—(AP)—Ray Robinson risks his welterweight title for the last time tonight in Roosevelt Stadium against Charlie Fusari in a Damon Runyon Cancer Fund show.

"Win lose or draw, this is my last welterweight defence," said Sugar Ray at his Pompton Lakes, N.J. camp yesterday.

Robinson didn't elaborate, but it was obvious that the struggle to make the 147-pound limit is taking too much out of him.

No longer a natural welter, Robinson weighed 155 pounds for the Robert Villemain fight July 12 at Philadelphia.

★ ★ ★

What Sugar Ray has in mind is a shot at Jake LaMotta's middleweight crown, but that may be a distant proposition. No promoter has been able to get the two to agree on terms, and the International Boxing Club has Jake under exclusive contract.

In the meantime, Robinson fights a double header tonight against (1) the scales and (2) Fusari, a blond 25-year-old puncher from Irvington, N.J., and he's doing it for less than taxi fare.

★ ★ ★

The lean Harlem slasher will fight for the sum of $1. Ray donates his 30 per cent of the gate to the fund, which may realize about $50,000 if 30,000 fans pay $150,000 as expected.

Fusari is a 5-to-1 underdog.

Exhibition Game At Kingsway Tonite

HEINHOLD HEADED HERE FOR DUNN BOUT

Proctor Heinhold, slated to meet George Dunn on Promotor Jack Berry's fight card at the Stock Pavilion next Wednesday, will arrive in Edmonton tomorrow or Friday, it was announced last night.

The 26-year-old scrapper recently lost a ten round decision to featherweight champion, Willie Pep, in Scranton, Penn.

According to the write-ups Heinhold chased Pep for the whole 10 rounds, and cut his eye bad enough to have the scheduled 'Sandy' Pep-Saddler championship bout delayed.

Dunn is currently doing roadwork in the wee hours of the morning and works out nightly at 7 o'clock at the gym-under-the-Gem.

IOF in Final Girls Fastball

Independent Order of Foresters won the best of three semi-final playoffs, two games to one, in the Girls Commercial Fastball league last night by defeating the Woodward squad 7-6 at Clarke Stadium. ......Winners now tangle with Boyle Street in the best of five final series.

First game is scheduled for tomorrow night at Clarke Stadium.

Ducey Writes Off Dodgers As Eskimos Victors 16-10

Esks ran roughshod over Dodgers for a 16-10 triumph at Renfrew Park last night.

And to hear John Ducey tell it those Dodgers now can put away their dreams of snatching a first place finish before the Big Four league curtain rings down Aug. 20.

"That's it," the Esk general manager spoke out for all to hear as he paid a visit to the press box, along about the seventh inning, "Those Dodgers have had it."

23RD MEETING

In this—the fifth annual Knights of Columbus benefit game—Esks had just counted four runs to balloon the score to 14-4.

Even the cautious Ducey, who long since has learned that Jim Ryan's Dodgers are liable to bounce back at any time, felt pretty certain this one wasn't going to get away.

As a result of their lopsided win, Eskimos kited their first place margin over Dodgers to two games. Teams meet but once more again in the regular run.

Power and more power spelled Dodgers' doom last night. Esks rolled out their heavy artillery to push starter Tom Kemp and reliefer Morris Hawkey around for 19 hits.

ESKS STARTED EARLY

Neither were they a long time demonstrating who figured to be the boss on this occasion.

Five runs in the second frame made the scoreboard read Esks 6, Dodgers 2, big knock of the rally being Cliff Johnston's double to right centre field.

Johnston, tops in the league in the runs-batted-in department, added four more to his total. He's plain dynamite with men on bases.

Between times first-sacker George Bradish, a much-improved rapper of late, shortstop Bob Lillis and second-sacker Ray Enjaian (he smashed out two doubles) were clicking for three hits apiece.

Against this kind of long range cannonading Dodgers were rendered helpless, even though Bernie Anderson matched Johnston in RBI output and catcher Ross Kortgard hit a ball half way to Beaumont in the fourth inning for the night's lone homer.

Righthander Gene Shuler stayed the route for the Eskimos, even though he had the staggers two or three times along the way.

'PEG SCOTTISH ENTER CANUCK SOCCER FINAL

WINNIPEG, Aug. 9—(CP)—Winnipeg Scottish staged a second-half driving offensive last night and whipped Montreal Hakoahs, 6-1, to enter the Dominion soccer final.

Winnipeg took the best-of-three series by winning the first and third contests. Second ended in a tie.

Scottish meet Vancouver City, winners against Calgary in the other semi-final, Saturday at Vancouver.

Midge Pennington and Ian Jack took Winnipeg's scoring honors before a crowd of 1,600, firing two each. Roy Burkett and Bob Gibson counted singletons.

Buffs File Protest As Puritys Win 5-2

CALGARY, Aug. 9—(CP)—A three-run homer by playing-manager Walt Gully in the bottom of the first inning last night set the pattern for Purity 99'ers, as they shelled manager Vince Pesky for seven hits and a 5-2 victory over Calgary Buffaloes before 1,800 fans.

Playing a crucial Big Four Baseball League tilt that was all-important to them in their battle for a playoff position, the Puritans swept to their victory behind the five-hit pitching of Lloyd Bradley, in a game that was called at the end of five innings due to rain.

The win boosts the last-place 99'ers to within two games of the coveted third position, currently held by Buffs.

Bradley, former Buff hurler, making his first start on the hill for Purity this season, pitched almost flawless ball after getting off to a shaky start in the opening inning.

Bisons tagged him for three hits, scoring two runs in their first time at bat, but the Puritan moundman issued only two safeties the rest of the way.

It was the Purity hitters however, led by manager Gully and second-baseman Richie Carlisle, that turned the tide.

Bouncing back from the two-run defeat Puritans poled out three hits of their own for a total of four runs in the bottom half of the same session, including Gully's home run over the right-field wall, that came with Ron Gibbons and Glen Gorbous on base.

Immediately following the game Pesky announced that his club would lodge a complaint with league president Sam Irwin over Purity's use of Bradley.

The Buff mentor claims an infraction of league rules, which stipulate that all teams must have their rosters settled prior to July 16.

Fans 16 As Cards Win

Paced by "Red" Laychuk's sterling mound performance, Clegg and Case last night marched to a 7-5 win over South Side in the deciding game of the Juvenile baseball league semi-final playdown series at Clarke Stadium.

Laychuk was credited with 16 strikeouts in the seven innings.

Clegg and Case went wild in the second inning to score all seven of their runs.

South Side boys staged a seventh inning rally which netted them three runs before they were stopped.

Cardinals meet Elmwood Park Dodgers tonight at Clarke Stadium in the first round of the provincial playdowns.

Stranahan Again Takes All-American Amateur

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 — Defending champion Frank Stranahan, already ahead by five strokes, won by technical disqualification over troubled Wilford Wehrle on the 18th green of their playoff for the Tam O'Shanter All-American amateur title here yesterday.

No card was turned in for Wehrle, who picked up on the last green when Stranahan sank a 15-footer. Arch Matson, tournament rules chairman, said the picked-up automatically disqualified Wehrle.

Wehrle had started the playoff after a charge today by the United States Golf Association in New York that he has lacked amateur status for the last two years.

Stranahan, much-travelled amateur from Toledo, Ohio, unreeled a four-under-par 68, compared with a theoretical 73 for Wehrle.

The two had tied in the regulation 72-hole distance over Tam O'Shanter's par 36-36—72 course at 291 strokes Monday.

The USGA statement told Tam promoter George S. May that Wehrle is not an amateur.

Wehrle teed off in the playoff with the comment that he intends soon to apply for reinstatement as an amateur.

Star's Pride 2-1 Favorite In Hambletonian Classic

By JOHN CHANDLER

GOSHEN, N.Y., Aug 9.—(AP)—Thirteen smart stepping trotters, cream of the three-year-old crop, are scheduled to start today in the $75,209 Hambletonian—richest in the event's history.

There were no surprises as the owners or trainers named their stars and paid $500 each for a crack at first money of $40,537.

Sleepy Goshen was slowly waking up as the vanguard of a crowd of 21,000 began moving in yesterday. The names of Star's Pride, Florican and Lusty Song were foremost with those who had the pari-mutuel winners in mind.

The number of entries, far below the original estimate of 18 or 19, still was about average and veterans of the grand circuit look for a wide-open battle around Good Time park's dusty mile.

Star's Pride is expected to rule the 2-1 betting choice.

The bay son of Worthy Boy is owned by E. R. Harriman of Arden, N.Y., and L. B. Sheppard, Hanover, Pa. He will be driven by Johnny Simpson.

Another horse given a chance is King's Ransom, from the Coldstream Stud, Lexington, Ky., and driven by Tom Berry—68-year-old veteran of the sulky who took the 1930 Hambletonian with Hanover's Bertha and won again with Chestertown in 1946.

Others in the line-up are Lord Steward, Darn Flashy, Vic Song, Anthony Hanover, Mariner Hanover, Choice Hanover, Mighty Express, Banter Hanover, and Stuart Hanover.

SENIOR 'B' TEAMS IN PLAYOFF TILT

Runte's Outlaws will be trying to 'steal' a victory from Westminster Royals at Diamond Park tonight as the two teams meet in the first game of the Senior Men's "B" fastball semi-final playoff series.

Game is scheduled for 6:15 o'clock.

Tomorrow night, at the same place, Canucks tangle with Oilers in the deciding game of their best of three series.

Long Distance—But Not Collect

A phone at the other end of the office ling-linged with shrill vigor. There was the usual period of waiting . . . everyone waiting for the other guy to answer it.

Then someone said I was wanted . . . that "Vancouver was calling."

★ ★ ★ ★

And that's how I heard from Gene Mason again . . . after nearly a year.

★ ★ ★ ★

No introduction proferred by the gent at the other end. Rather just an introductory "You comin' to the fight Tuesday night?". Like he was in the west end and talkin' about a card to be staged at the Cow Palace or elsewhere locally.

With most promoters you'd know right off that the rib was on.

With Mason (not Perry, but "Honest Gene") there was no telling but what he meant it.

After all what are airplanes for, if not to hustle humans from here to there . . . in a hurry? Weren't 'Honest Gene' and Walter (The Honest Brakeman) Pratt presenting Billy Fifield and Jimmy Langston at New Westminster in a night or two?

★ ★ ★ ★

What possibly could keep anyone away, even if it did mean a jaunt of 800 miles or so?

★ ★ ★ ★

Somehow I got it across that for at least one good reason I knew of (newspapers operate on budgets, too) I would not be sitting at ringside, come that particular Tuesday night.

No, not even to see the Haney Hurricane, Langston, stiffen Fifield, as all the 'hexperts' were saying he would.

As it happened the Haney Hurricane turned out to be a nickel zephyr. Fifield first gave him a boxing lesson, then got over with the knockout drops in the ninth.

★ ★ ★ ★

So, after receiving my halting explanations with just enough incredulity in his voice, 'Honest Gene' swallowed his 'disappointment' and settled for asking about this thing and that back in Edmonton.

★ ★ ★ ★

Edmonton had taken to betting $200,000 and more at the races of an afternoon, eh? "Ain't that somethin'? We don't do near that good out here."

And of course the man who was Edmonton's fight promoter for six or eight months wanted to know about the boxing game here: how it looked; where from here, now that Al Marotti seemed to have petered out as a 'local boy' saviour? What did "this Dunn" have on the ball?

★ ★ ★ ★

No mention, though, of wanting to give promoting another whirl in these parts.

★ ★ ★ ★

Truthfully, 'Honest Gene' hadn't done much good for himself while trying to put the fight game back on its pins hereabouts, to say nothing of putting a bulge in the Mason wallet again.

The first couple of Roddy McDonald—Eddie (Bolo) Halligan battles had packed in the customers. But that was it, despite the flamboyant Mason's acknowledged gifts as a promoter.

★ ★ ★ ★

From there on he did nothing but bad, his headaches being further accentuated because a rival group of would-be promotional geniuses had the knife in him at every opportunity, and were all for breaking it off.

★ ★ ★ ★

In the end he packed it up, boarded up the windows of the gym-under-the-Gem, headed back for the coast.

Lest this be misconstrued as a bid for sympathy on Mason's part, skip it. If there's one thing he never asks it's that you take out the crying towel in his behalf.

Neither should this be viewed as an attempt to paint 'Honest Gene' as a paragon of virtue, any more than am I, or the reader, possibly.

★ ★ ★ ★

His greatest appeal as a promoter of professional fights lay in the fact that he knew all the angles, all the proper approaches to what is essentially a dirty, mean business.

★ ★ ★ ★

What's more, it was easy to like him personally.

ANDERSON, ALOUETTES KISS AND MAKE UP

MONTREAL, Aug. 9—(CP)—Chuck Anderson, Negro lineman who was released by Montreal Alouettes and had sought a berth with Ottawa Rough Riders, reported back to Alouettes' training camp Monday.

Anderson, who was with the Canadian football champions last year, reported along with Emil Ladyko, 202-pound end.

At the same time, George Gilchrist, 21-year-old lineman who was on the Negro All-American football team last year, was released.

Ready Calgary Club For Alberta Open

CALGARY, Aug. 9—(CP)—Competitors in the western Canada and Alberta Open golf championships and prize money of $2,000, to be held here Sept. 2, 3, and 4, will find the Earl Grey course in the best condition of it's 20-year history, according to Otto Anderson, genial pro-manager of the sporty south Calgary layout.

From the recently enlarged and newly furnished clubhouse, one of the most beautiful scenic views in the province is provided by the foothills to the southwest, across the reservoir of the Glenmore Dam, which borders part of the course.

Four holes are played alongside this water boundary but not too much trouble is to be expected from this source.

General consensus is that a score close to Henry Martell's record of 268 in 944 will be posted by the winner with a prediction that the par three holes—seventh, ninth, 13th, 15th and 16th—will prove to be the big stumbling blocks to the majority of entrants.

Aussie KO Winner

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 9 (AP)—Dave Sands of Sydney, British Empire middleweight boxing champion, last night scored a knockout over Henry Brimm of Buffalo, N.Y. Sands weighed 161, Brimm 159½.

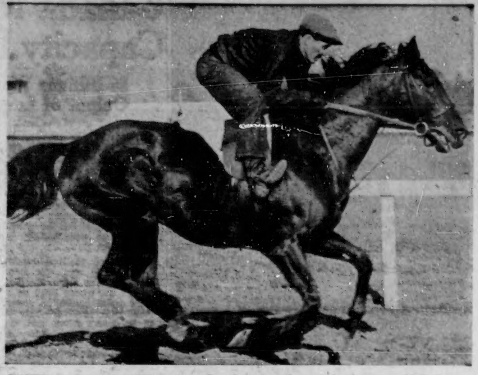
In the men's singles, Jim Duff, Toronto, was the only visitor to register a victory, defeating J. J. Desjardins, Montreal 6-1, 4-6, 6-2.

South Side junior soccer club will hold a workout tonight at 7 o'clock at South Side Athletic grounds.



RATED in many quarters western Canada's top thoroughbred, owner Neil Campbell's Pagan Star is stabled at Fair Grounds, being readied for 14-day race meeting, opening Friday.

EDGE DODGERS 6-5

Phils Stretch Lead to 5 Games

NEW YORK, Aug. 9—(CP)—The surging Philadelphia Phillies extended their National league lead to five games last night as the Whiz Kids defeated Brooklyn Dodgers 6-5 at Brooklyn.

Dark-haired Robin Roberts gained his 15th triumph of the season, although the young Philly hurler needed help in the ninth from fireman Jim Konstanty.

Second-place Boston Braves lost ground when they were defeated 2-1 by the charging New York Giants who extended their winning streak to eight straight and 17 victories in their last 18 games.

Wes Westrum belted a two-run homer to supply the victory margin for Leo Durocher's Giants.

CUBS LOSE TWO

Cincinnati moved within ½-game of the sixth place Chicago Cubs by defeating Bruins in both games of a twilight-night doubleheader at Cincinnati.

Ken Raffensberger coasted in the first game 10-1, giving up 10 hits, and Willard Ramsdell shut out the Cubs on five hits in the last game to win 9-0.

A crowd of 18,243 at Pittsburgh saw St. Louis Cardinals whip Pirates 6-4. Stan Musial won the game in the second inning with a circuit clout that sent Red Schoendienst across home plate ahead of him.

TIGERS CUFFED

In the American League, front running Detroit Tigers had their tails clipped 9-6 by Chicago White Sox at Chicago.

Al Zarilla batted in two runs with a home run and two singles to lead Boston Red Sox to a 7-4 triumph over New York Yankees.

The smallest major-league crowd of the year in Philadelphia—1,102—saw the A's defeat Washington 5-0 behind the pitching of lefty Lou Brissie.

For Konstanty, the majors' No. 1 bullpen specialist, it was his 49th appearance this season.

The Brooks almost pulled the game out in the ninth but the bespectacled Konstanty, after yielding a double to Roy Campanella, retired two pinch hitters with the tying run in scoring position.

Alberta Swim Meet At West-End Pool

For the first time in eight years the Alberta swimming association will be 'on its own' when the big, two-day provincial meet gets underway at Edmonton's west-end pool Friday.

Since 1942 all provincial meets have been held in conjunction with city events. Sponsored by the Edmonton Swim club, this year's contests will be exclusively a provincial show.

Fay Griffiths, secretary of the meet, said about 40 entries have been received to date, including nine from Calgary.

Some of the top-notch swimmers and divers already entered are Ned Feehan, Audrey Turner, Lorna Culver, Doris Elliott, Audrey Sprackelen, Irene Holland, Delrose Chivers, all of Edmonton.

Calgary will send Carmen Bradley and Jim Johnson who both made a good showing in the recent Wrigley swims at Sylvan Lake.

Feehan and Mrs. Turner are both former Dominion title-holders and are expected to grab most of the honors in the diving events.

Winnipeg-Owned Star Arrives for Race Meeting

A lot of the 'name' horses scheduled to go to the gate at various times during the 14-day race meeting that opens Friday arrived at the Fair Grounds yesterday.

Included in the Meadowbrook Stable string, fresh in from the coast, were storied Fort Garry, speedy Free As Air and the good three-year-old, Gay Thoughts.

It marked the first time Fort Garry, a winner at Chicago and other U.S. points, ever had been shipped here. In 1946 the son of Osiris 2nd—Light Crusader won the second division of the Alberta Derby at Calgary.

He hasn't been campaigned in Alberta since.

Among his outstanding triumphs are those in the Whittier Park handicap (1947, 1948) and Speers handicap (1948).

★ ★ ★

With Neil Campbell's Pagan Star also on the grounds, as well as Lee Williams' Air Cadet and Franks Mistake, best fields ever to race here will contest such features as the Speed to Spare handicap and more.

The Williams' string, under the direction of trainer Earl Robertson, arrived yesterday. Included was the 2-year-old filly Carita, recent winner of the Little Saratoga Special at Vancouver.

Still another Edmonton owner, Max Cristall, saw his string safely bedded down at the east end oval. Occupying stalls were Pierrette, Mr. Zip, Wild Kate, Roi Harar and Balmy Lady.

Last named probably is through for the year. The five-year-old daughter of Kentucky Derby winner Johnstown had skinned herself badly during the trip over the mountains.

More than 400 head are on the grounds, with more arriving by the hour.

Post time Friday is 4:00 p.m.

CURT SIMMONS BACK WITH PHILLY MATES

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 — (AP) — Lefty Curt Simmons, a 14-game winner, rejoined the league-leading Philadelphia Phillies yesterday after return of his National Guard unit from camp.

"I don't know how long I'll be around," said Simmons, "but I want to stay with the club as long as possible."

Simmons' Pennsylvania National Guard division has been ordered to active duty. No date has been set for reporting but it probably will be some time within 30 days.

Alberta Loses Again In Cricket Tourney

WINNIPEG, Aug. 9 — (CP) — Manitoba and Ontario yesterday won their respective matches against British Columbia and Alberta during the second day of the Canadian cricket championship.

Manitoba defeated B.C. by three wickets and one run, while Ontario won over defending champion Alberta by five wickets and five runs.

Featuring the day's play was the fine bowling of Manitoba's Doug Stwart who took five B.C. wickets for five runs.

B.C. collapsed badly after making 25 for two wickets on their first at bat. They were all out for 57. L. Bullen topped the side with 17 not out, followed by T. L. Brierley with 14.

Manitoba started slowly, losing their first wicket at 11 runs and posting only 28 with four men away.

After losing another batter without scoring, they staged a rally that brought them within four runs of B.C. After losing another man they came through with a win.

H. Snippon was high with 16 not out; Ronnie Turnbull and R. Shelton made 10 each.

NUGENT IN FORM

George Nugent sparked the B.C. attack, taking 6 for 24.

Ontario's victory—second in the tournament—climaxed a high-scoring spree by both sides.

Alberta racked up 94 runs with Edmonton's Ken Fraser and Pete Snell, Calgary making 24 and 23 respectively. A. V. Pope took half the wickets at a cost of less than six runs each. E. F. Loney took three for eight.

Ontario replied with 99 for five. H. Gerrard led with 25, followed by J. H. Gunn with 19. W. A. Percival was undefeated with 18. Snell took three Alberta wickets for 26 runs.

History Will Lose Much By Diary Destruction

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—(CP)—A rich fund of inside history on men and affairs during the last half-century will remain largely untapped through destruction of the Mackenzie King diaries.

The former prime minister has given instructions in his will that the bulk of his diaries, undoubtedly laden with behind-the-scenes lore, is to be destroyed, except for certain designated sections.

But the task of preparing Mr. King's biography—tantamount to a modern political history of Canada—will not be materially affected by loss of the voluminous material in his personal journals, informed quarters said today, following disclosure of the terms of his will.

Literally hundreds of filing cabinets laden with papers and records, gathered during almost 50 years in the government service, remain at the disposal of the staff writing the life of the man who was prime minister longer than any other in Commonwealth history.

This monumental task is to continue by direction of Mr. King, though its form will have to be switched to biography from the memoir-type of publication which was in the early stages of preparation when Mr. King died July 22.

So far, it is too soon to say how long it will take to sort out the records and boil down the vast fund of information to readable size. It will be years before the job is completed.

FAITHFUL DIARIST

An inveterate diarist, Mr. King kept up his journals throughout his adult liftime, making entries faithfully at the end of each day.

Of interest to Mackenzie King students and to the public, too would have been his comments—reported to be frank and at times pungent—upon the other leadiug figures of his time.

Despite the lack of these touches, however, it is expected that Mr. King's biographers will have at their command ample material to portray clearly the main facets of his life.

Estate Size Amazes Even Former PM

TORONTO, Aug. 9—(CP)—A close friend of Mackenzie King said last night that even the former prime minister was "shocked" to learn that his estate was valued at about $750,000.

"The size of Mr. King's estate will surprise many people," said Leonard W. Brockington, an Ottawa lawyer who is administrator of part of the state. "It was for long unknown to him and at last was a shock even to himself."

During almost 50 years of public life, Mr. King "carefully husbanded his own resources and was never extravagant in his personal life," Mr. Brockington said in a Dominion-wide CBC broadcast.

TO THE PEOPLE

He explained the will—which leaves most of the estate to the Canadian people—at the request of the executors.

Much of Mr. King's estate was made up of "honorable gifts and bequests" received during his lifetime.

Lady Laurier, wodow of another prime minister, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, left him Laurier House, a private home in Ottawa.

A group of 17 friends had presented Mr. King with a $225,000 fund for his personal use and to assist in the upkeep of Laurier House. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., had given Mr. King $100,000.

Belgium Votes Boost In Pact Defence Budget

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The Belgian government yesterday joined the Atlantic Pact rearmament drive with a proposal to raise its defence budget by 5,000,000,000 francs ($100,000,000).

Premier Jean Duvieusart told a grave and silent chamber of deputies that the government has decided to raise total defence spending by that much for the period expiring at the end of 1951.

The defence budget for 1950 is 8,500,000,000 francs.

The plans to face mounting world tension drove the crisis over King Leopold out of parliament for the day. Duvieusart's statement was made at the opening of a session that had been called to consider a bill legalizing the transfer of King Leopold's constitutional powers to his son, Crown Prince Baudouin.

The Chamber postponed the debate on Leopold until today in order to hear the premier's statement.

FIVE COMMITTED

Five Atlantic Pact countries, pressed by the United States, now have proposed a total emergency defence spending program of $15,422,225,000.

(In Canadian funds, the total defence expenditure of the five countries for the three-year period would be 10 per cent greater or $15,585,447,250.)

Monday, France offered to carry out a $5,710,000,000 defence program over three years with American aid. Britain similarly has promised a three-year $9,520,000,000 plan, and Norway and Denmark have pledged to increase their arms budgets by $35,125,000 and $57,100,000, respectively, in the next two or two and one-half years.

Ex-Red Reveals Why He Quit

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—David H. Levison, 40, testified yesterday that he quit the Communist party in disgust because members talked much of fighting Hitlerism while trying to keep from being drafted.

Levison, a Cincinnati, O., businessman, told the House of Representatives Un-American Activities committee that he joined the party in 1935 and left in 1942 after becoming "increasingly unhappy."

Nurse Rowe will attend the Princess at the birth of Elizabeth's second child, expected within the next few days. She also attended the princess at the birth of Prince Charles in November, 1948.

Combat Veterans Sought For Special Korean Unit

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—(BUP)—The army opened for business today in an all-out drive to sign up 4,000 combat veterans for Canada's trouble-shooting special service brigade.

It seemed assured of getting its 4,000. But there was some doubt that they all would be able to produce World War II discharge papers.

Some youngsters, their ages averaging 19, parked outside one Ottawa recruiting office as far in advance as yesterday morning.

They called themselves "The Korea Kids" and said they wanted to do the prescribed 18 months in Khaki just so they could help fight the Communists in Korea.

GLOBAL FIGHT

Regulations were relaxed to such an extent that almost every man who fought through France, the Low Countries and Italy in the Second World War was eligible for service in Korea, wherever else the United Nations decided to send the special brigade, and if necessary in a third global fight.

The army's age-old fetish against recruiting married men in peacetime was tossed out and previous age limits also went by the board.

The maximum age for combat soldiers was boosted from 29 to 35 and raised to 45 for tradesmen classifications.

In a radio address last night, Gen. Charles Foulkes, chief of the general staff, announced simply that "we desire to enlist . . . men who know the score".

FALAISE, CAEN

Foulkes said in a nationally-broadcast recruiting program that the army wanted men who had fought at Falaise and Caen, and in the Liri Valley and the Hochwald.

He said they would have to be willing to serve at least 18 months, and more if the internaitonal situation warranted an extension of service.

In effect, he told men who were looking for a soft job to go elsewhere to apply.

NO PICNIC

"Speaking as one veteran to another," he said, "I believe you will find service in the special force by no means a picnic."

Defence Minister Brooke Claxotn joined Foulkes in the program which took the form of one asking questions similar to those that might come up in the minds of potential volunteers.

He said the army would give veterans preference over untrained youngsters so it could get its special force in fighting trim with a minimum of delay.

Speedy Action Saves Boy, 6

OAKLAND, Calif., Aug. 9.—(AP)—William Ward, 6, fell into an Oakland estuary canal Monday and was sucked into a culvert.

K. J. Sadamora, who saw him, raced 100 feet to the other end of the huge pipe, dived into the water and held William until police pulled out both. The boy was revived by artificial respiration.

Audiences will stop between Aug. 13 and Sept. 1, but the Pope will continue to give public audiences in St. Peter's basilica where, twice a week, he receives up to 50,000 Holy-Year pilgrims from all over the world.

Canada Munitions Capacity Doubled

$5 Billions Worth Is Twice Output of Last War's Peak

By Norman M. MacLeod
Exclusive to the Bulletin

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—(BUP)—Canada is equipped to turn out $5,000,000,000 worth of munitions a year, twice as much as it did at the peak of World War II, federal economists said today.

But they added it would take up to 18 months to set the nation's war machinery running at full speed and warned that the billion-dollar figures were strictly in "dollar value."

In other wards, shells and bombs, like everything else, cost more these days than they did when Canadian war plants hung up a commonwealth production record in their peak production year of 1943. It doesn't follow that the amount of bullets and bombs also would be doubled, even though the government might like it that way.

That figure, however, went back to Washington today with two American economists who spent all day yesterday getting a rough blueprint of the extent to which Canadian and United States industrial production could be integrated.

OUTLINE MADE

A broad outline of a plan called for joint arms production and pooled use of natural resources for continental defence was worked out here by members of the U.S.-Canadian industrial mobilization planning committee. They wound up their sessions with a bare statement that they would recommend to both governments "practical measures to make the most effective use of the resources of the two countries for common defence."

H. J. Carmichael, chairman of the Canadian Industrial Defence Board, and Hubert E. Howard, U.S. munitions board chairman, said in the prepared statement that their recommendations would emphasize the need for "practical measures" to solidify the two countries' defence setup on the home front.

Commenting guardedly on the talks' outcome, one Canadian government economist said that any large integration of Canadian industry would have to be made at the expense of civilian production.

PEAK OUTPUT NOW

The meeting was told that civil production in Canada already was at a stage where there was relatively little slack left for war purposes. People still are buying more from industry and expecting industry to come through with what they want.

It would take some time to switch that around and have World War II war plants, now converted to peacetime use, turn out bullets instead of baby carriages, for instance.

So any expansion now would come in the millions of dollars instead of in billions. Even under the most favorable conditions of co-operation, economists said, the top boost in annual production likely would be limited to $300,000,000.

Three hundred million dollars, they said, sounds a lot and looks that way on paper. But it doesn't go far in an all-out war effort.

Polish Motorship Sails Home

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The Polish motorship Batory sailed for home yesterday, as closely watched on departure as on arrival.

Customs officers and FBI agents barred everyone from the ship except those with official business. The Batory was the first Iron Curtain country vessel subjected to the new security check in New York harbor.

Port Workers Quit Over Danger Money

HAMBURG, Germany, Aug. 9.—(Reuters)—German port workers yesterday refused to unload a British ammunition ship here after their demand for "danger money" had been rejected by Hamburg port authorities. The Hamburg port administration said it suspected Communists of having incited the strike.

$40 Millions For A-Powered Sub

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—(AP)—President Truman yesterday signed a $350,000,000 navy shipbuilding bill, which includes authority to build the United States' first atomic-powered submarine.

About $130,000,000 will go into new construction. The sum of $40,000,000 will be used for the attempt to build a 2,500-ton atomic submarine and $37,000,000 for another highly secret submarine.

The balance of the funds would go into reconversion, including modernization of 11 submarines with the underwater "snorkel" breathing device.

Unions' Merger Up for Study

August Assuagement

Comforting thoughts for August: At least three horses have to be in the money in every race.

If putting pennies in parking meters on Jasper Avenue gets you down just remember you soon won't be able to park on Jasper at all.

If it rained all through your holidays at the lake think of all the money you saved on sunburn lotions.

If you can't pronounce names of places in Korea I can't think of anyone competent to correct you.

If summer heat bothers you think about next winter's gas bills.

Mennonite Visit

Had a coffee yesterday with my friend Ray Harvey, head man for North West Tent and Awning Co.

Ray had an interesting experience to tell me about—his visit to a new Mennonite Colony near Viking.

His business involved inspecting a well being drilled on the colony of some 63 persons.

The Mennonites invited Ray to have dinner with them. He accepted.

The food was plain but substantial. It was the dinner table seating arrangements that intrigued Ray.

Married men sat at one table, single men at another and the women at still a third table.

Latest styles don't bother the Mennonites. They make their own clothes and their own shoes.

Newspapers, radios and firearms are forbidden things in the colony. The Mennonites told Ray these things are too worldly.

The ban on guns has produced a peculiar situation. Crows are eating up the crops. So the Mennonites ask non-Mennonites to come in and enjoy a crow shoot.

Ireland Leads Here

We all know the Irish have lots to be proud of, but I had to flip through the new city directory to find out just how proud the Irish are.

I bet you never knew there are six people in Edmonton by the name of Ireland.

Of course there'll always be an England. In fact there are three Englands in the Edmonton directory. But there's just one Scotland.

There's nobody by the name of Oil but there's the next best thing—three people named Oyler.

There are nine Golds, 13 Silvers, 11 Diamonds, one Nickel, 28 Nichols and two named plain Nichol without the S.

There's one man named Brass.

We have no Iron but we have an Ironfield and one Ironmonger.

A warm goodnight to all and especially to people who predict a mild winter.

Special Force Starts Training Before Winter

A call to veterans to join the Canadian special service force came from Maj.-Gen. M. H. S. Penhale, GOC western command.

Without a hard core of veterans, it will be impossible to produce a fighting force within the short time available for training, the GOC stated. Veteran officers and NCOs will be especially needed.

"I would like to see force composed of possibly 75 per cent veterans," Gen. Penhale said.

Slightly under 1,000 men will be recruited for the second battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, almost exclusively from the prairie provinces and British Columbia, he stated.

A recruiting sub-depot or reception station will be established in Edmonton to speed handling of local recruits.

Recruiting headquarters for western command will continue to be at Currie barracks, Calgary. Initial training of the force will be carried out at Calgary and followed up with advanced instruction at Wainwright.

NO DATE SET

No date has been set to commence advanced training but it is hoped the second battalion will be at Wainwright "before the cold weather sets in," Gen. Penhale said.

Like the other units to be trained at Petawawa, Ont., and Valcartier, Que., the PPCLI second battalion will be trained as an infantry force. The unit will receive no parachute training.

Present permanent force members of the PPCLI will act as instructors. Some have already been recalled from the current training scheme at Wainwright to commence recruit training at Calgary.

Gen. Penhale emphasized that veterans will not undergo long "boot camp" training. But will be screened and advanced rapidly after refresher training.

Turning to the active force, the GOC stressed that Canada's small but highly trained army can not be spared for overseas duty.

"We would simply be retarding our program if we did so," he commented.

However some members of the active force may be assigned to the second battalion at a later date, he said.

AMA Boost In Members

Membership in the Alberta Motor Association continues to increase.

July figures were presented to the directors, Tuesday.

Regular membership increased 960 in July this year over the 1949 figures for the same month, while associate memberships increased 812 for the same period, giving a combined increase of 1,772 for the month.

Total membership of the association for the Edmonton branch now stands at 14,010 regular, 11,708 associate with a combined membership of 25,718, W. C. Caton, secretary-manager reported.

Edmonton Offers Edmonton Thanks

The "lord mayor" of Edmonton had a record pile of correspondence on his desk yesterday.

The mayor found a package of approximately 100 letters from Edmonton, England.

The letters were written by the people of the British sister city thanking Edmonton Alberta for food percels and Christmas hampers which were sent over last year., Edmonton, England is located on the northeast outskirts of London.

Child Lost for 30 Hours Found in Bath on Old Farm

A 30-month-old child, lost for 30 hours, was found yesterday snuggled in a bathtub in the yard of a deserted farm.

And so ended search for Helen Bogen, who wandered from farm of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivor Bogen, near Monitor, 150 miles southeast of Edmonton.

She disappeared after she was told she could not accompany two other children to their grandparents' home on horseback.

The child spent the night in a thunderstorm without clothing.

Her parents discovered her night clothing near their farm gate after they found her missing.

A search party of some 450 district residents, aided by two light planes, RCMP and police dogs, discovered the roaming red-head alive and well in an old bath-tub on a deserted farmyard three miles from her home.

Helen was hungry, weak and cold when she was found.

Her relieved parents took her to Consort hospital where she will remain a few days. She suffered only a cold.

First person to spot the child was Mrs. Eileen Tainer, farmer's wife of Consort. The time was 5:30 p.m.

Last night the child's mother, Mrs. Bogen, spoke of the anxiety she felt during the lengthy and tedious search in the bush.

"It's the first time Helen left home," she stated. "I sincerely hope it's the last time".

SANTA IN THE SUMMER

A REAL SANTA CLAUS is John Dallavaux, teacher-writer of Rutland, Vermont. He takes deserving students on trips throughout the continent, this week was in Edmonton with Paul Horton, Rutland, and Charles Collins, East Rochester, N. Y.

Summer Time Santa Claus Takes Students On Trips

By John Holinski

Class him as the Santa Claus of well-behaved boys between the ages of 10 and 20 and you won't be far wrong.

He's Author John Dallavaux of New York City who, when he's not writing, spends a great deal of his time showing "deserving young boys" an expense-free holiday.

This usually lasts up to eight weeks, taking in 28 states, Canada and part of Alaska.

APPLICATIONS

Each year the 44-year-old author receives thousands of applications from youngsters all across the United States who, because of their good records, feel entitled to such a trip.

From all these entries, two boys are chosen.

Accompanying him on this year's trip are two 18-year-old youths, Charles Collins, East Rochester; and Paul Horton of Rutland, Vermont.

Both were popular in school with teachers and students, received good grades, participated in every sport, took interesting part in school activities and both are "a couple of real swell guys."

Both have now finished high school.

The trio arrived in Edmonton Monday, half-way through their trip.They left for the south on Tuesday.

CITIZENSHIP

What is the idea behind the popular author's kindly gesture? He's trying to promote better citizenship he says.

"For the past 20 years I've been taking spoiled rich children on these trips, but I am now donating much of my summer months to those I think deserve it," he said.

And in case you want to know the name of his latest book, it's "For Student's Only."

Aircraft Takes Injured Worker From Fire Area

A bulldozer operator injured by a falling tree while fighting a forest fire has been rescued by the RCAF and brought to hospital in Edmonton.

A Norseman aircraft operating from the air force seaplane base at Lake Wabamum near Edmonton, landed at Jackfish Lake in the rugged Little Smoky River district after first being turned back by the bad weather.

The injured man, Charles Jackson, was taken aboard the plane which returned to Lake Wabamum. An air force ambulance was waiting there to take him to Edmonton hospital where he was reported resting comfortably.

The Little Smoky area is about 150 miles west of Edmonton.

CITY CHINCHILLA BIRTHS SET RECORD

Believed a world record, a litter of six chinchillas was born at the Edmonton ranch of Dr. J. Shinners, vice-president of the National Chinchilla Breeders of Canada.

Dr. Shinners said the largest litter recorded previously was five on a ranch at Idaho Falls, Idaho.

Portrait of Edmonton Like Passport Picture

By Pat McVean

Now Edmonton knows how a traveller feels about his passport picture.

The city is currently the subject for the Saturday Evening Post's "Cities of America" series—and the word portrait of the city of Edmonton is as unglamourized as a passport photograph.

It's not all flattering, the picture that writer Richard Neuberger paints, but all the little traits that give character are there.

TAME EXHIBITION

Edmonton's women's beer parlors are described as "weird"; the "rutted dirt roads north and west of the city" are admitted to thousands of Post readers, and "tame exhibition of farm products is publicly contrasted to Calgary's "boisterous rodeo."

But against that, we're lauded for our "elbow-rubbing with the snowy solitudes" as North America's nearest-to-the-pole dwellers; we're proclaimed as the biggest air freight handlers in the world and as residents of one of the fastest growing cities on the continent.

All our history that was made from the time Edmonton was growing from fur trading post in 1795 to what the Post describes as the present-day "replica of a prosperous corn-belt trading centre" is related in capsule form.

Edmontonians themselves may never have known or may have forgotten some of the contributions the city has made to Canadian and American history—but Mr. Neuberger has detailed them.

TRADING POST

He mentions Edmonton as a fur-trading post, a mounted police outpost, a jumping-off place for the Klondike gold-seekers a half century ago, a promised-land for European immigrants several decades ago, a hub for Northern exploration and bush piloting in the '20's and '30's, a supply base for wartime developments in Alaska and finally the centre of Canada's current oil boom.

The rapid growth of the city is noted at length in this magazine article, just as it has been the subject of several other national magazine stories.

But in that, Edmonton out-raced the Saturday Evening Post. Increase in population during the time of the writing of the Edmonton article and its publication outdated Mr. Neuberger's population statistics.

The city's population is now nearer to 148,000 than it is to the 143,500 he reported in his article.

PERSONALITIES

Most Post readers will enjoy Mr Neuberger's reference to outstanding Edmontonians—among them Premier E. C. Manning, medical health officer Dr. G. M. Little, Gas Company president Ray Milner, ex-school teacher Tom Shandro, outfitter Uncle Ben, CPA president Grant McConachie and CPA agent George Wells; John Ducey and John Beatty of baseball fame, Jim MacArthur, Northern Alberta Railways manager, and cabinet ministers Hon. A. J. Hooke and Hon N. E. Tanner.

Olds Service For Member

Funeral service for Norman E. Cook, Social Credit member of Alberta legislature for Olds for the past 10 years, who died Saturday, was held in Olds Tuesday afternoon.

Service was conducted in the United Church by Rev. Charles Armstrong, minister of Didsbury United Church.

Hon. A. J. Hooke, minister of economic affairs, Hon. David A. Ure, agriculture minister, Hon. D. B. MacMillan, public works minister, and Hon. Ivan Casey, minister of education, represented the cabinet.

Mr. Cook, aged 61, who died in hospital in Olds, had suffered poor health for several years.

First elected to Alberta legislature in 1940, Mr. Cook was re-elected with good majority in 1944 and 1948.

He was born in Woodstock, Ont., and attended school there. He came to Alberta in 1910 and operated a farm near Olds.

He is survived by his wife, step-children, Arthur Guitard, Beaverlodge; Albert Guitard, Mound; Mrs. Morris Steen, Edmonton, and Wilna Guitard, Olds; and four brothers, Gordon, Sioux Falls, North Dakota; Leslie, Calgary; Morley, Beechville, Ont., and Royal, Castor.

Cowboys Are Sissies These Days

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Movie and television cowboys are sissies compared to the sagebrush kings of yesteryear in show business, an 80-year-old Cherokee contends.

He is John Agee, who rode with Buffalo Bill's show and was equestrian director for Ringling's circus in the 1890s. He coached Tom Mix, gave Buck Jones his first circus job, and for more than a decade has been chief horse trainer for the movie cowboy Gene Autry

Agee ranks Autry tops among present day cowboys but sticks to his guns on the sissy business generally.

"I was a pretty tough hombre myself. But take Tom Mix. He was a real tough guy. He was a two-gun, hard fisted man like Buffalo Bill.

"Mix made Fox studios $5,000,000 and made himself another $5,000,000."

Nine times winner of the world trick riding championships, Agee is now educating a horse to canter backward and to drink from a barrel of fire.

Agee remembers going along on Buffalo Bill's first tour to Mexico City. Cody was accompanied by a newspaper woman, Faye King from the Denver Post, and Annie Oakley and her shooting partner, Johnnie Baker.

Death of Hitchhiker Is Ruled As Accident

Death of a 26-year-old hitchhiker, Doris Paranteau, was accidental.

Cause of death, said Coroner Dr. M. M. Cantor at an inquest yesterday, was a broken neck.

Miss Paranteau was struck by a car as she crossed the highway two miles south of Nisku June 29.

Miss Paranteau had been hitchhiking with three companions to the Ponoka Stampede but had left her friends shortly before the accident on the Calgary trail, the inquest jury was told.

Motor Group Seeks Off-Street Parking

Acquisition of Lots Is Seen As Solution to Car Problem

Acquisition of lots for off-street parking would solve the problem where meters have failed, Alberta Motor Association directors decided at their Tuesday meeting.

Strongly critical of the effect of meters in limiting parking in the downtown area directors will urge the city to set aside lots for the convenience of motorists who drive to work.

Money accumulated from parking meters could be used for the purchase of lots, said A. P. Gregory, director.

HALT SALE

Immediate action will be sought to halt the sale of city owned lots in the centre of Edmonton until proper parking arrangements have been made to meet the traffic problem.

"If we wait too long the ideal city lots will be gone," said R. A. Godson.

Directors suggested the city could make an exchange of lots in different parts of the city if some of the best locations have already been sold.

The condition is becoming worse every day with the city extending the red stripe for bus stops, Jack Housez, president, said.

"Parking meters, are being used for long-time parking with office employes watching the meter and dropping in another nickel every time the red violation sign shows," he said.

NOT IMPROVED

Meters have not improved the situation, directors claimed as they instructed the civic affairs committee to take up the whole parking problem with civic authorities.

A closer check on double and angle parking on 101A avenue near the post office will also be asked by the committee.

Magistrates do not go into the information thoroughly enough before granting a summons against drivers, said C. H. Grant, K.C. legal adviser to the association in explaining the handling of several dangerous driving charges lately.

"Many times charges are laid without justification and if the driver is freed the mibistrate will not give costs against the police," he said.

NEW RETURN

Old Papers Produce $183 In Good Cash

Returned newspapers seldom produce anything but waste paper.

But with a roll returned to The Bulletin Tuesday the bench on which returns are counted gave up $188.53 in cash.

The paper boy who brought the papers and money in was most surprised as he in an awed voice said he "didn't even know it was there".

The envelope which contained the money was eventually found to contain the name and address of a druggist who had hidden the money Saturday night.

In the rush of getting the papers away the money was forgotten.

The druggist was as surprised to get it back as was Jim Gilfillan, 10545-106 street, when he found it.

Driver Fee To Be Cut?

Prophesy that driving licence fee will be reduced next spring was made by Walker Blake, manager, Alberta Motor Association, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Blake gave no indication as to how great a reduction was likely to be made when he addressed Edmonton Gyro Club in the Macdonald hotel.

Taking "The Road Ahead" as his subject, he spoke of AMA's intention of adding driving lessons to high school classes.

Dual-control cars will be used to instill confidence and road consciousness into the young people.

"By catching them young," Mr. Blake stated, "we will put a generation of better drivers on the roads."

Topic of condemnation by Mr. Blake was Alberta's roads.

"We need a good road to Jasper and a good road to Peace River," he declared.

He was of the opinion they would better the province's American tourist trade.

Car Possession Case Withdrawn In Police Court

Charge of possessing stolen property was withdrawn when Wallace Groff, Vancouver, appeared in police court yesterday.

Groff was arrested July 30 by Edmonton police in connection with an alleged stolen-car ring operating between Vancouver and Edmonton, according to police.

The ring is alleged to have driven to Edmonton, for sale, cars that were stolen in Vancouver.

Anxiety Is Expressed Over Crossing Hazard

Residents of the area north of the CNR tracks are alarmed by the smash last week when a fire truck struck a locomotive.

Mayor Sid Parsons has received a letter, written by Mary Finlay, superintendant of the Beulah home for the aged, claiming residents have long been worried by traffic delays caused by the level crossing at 97 street and 126 avenue, the scene of last week's crash.

The letter stated traffic is delayed as much as 20 minutes by shunting rail traffic. This has, at times, delayed doctors hurrying to the northside district, Miss Finlay said.

The air horn on the diesel yard locomotives was also cited as dangerous because of its similarity in sound to that of an automobile or truck.

The letter urged the mayor to consider the question of an underpass at the intersection.

Minnesotans Seek Relics

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(UP)—Minnesota farmers are being asked to get their grandfather's musty hand hewn plows and grandma's churns and spinning wheels down from the hayloft and send them to the state capitol.

With the approval of Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl, the Minnesota Historical Society is starting a farm museum and wants samples of all types of equipment used in developing the state's great agricultural industry.

The farm museum committee's ultimate hope is to gather enough equipment from all periods of the state's history to permit actual practice of the various farm crafts in the museum. For instance, it wants to re-assemble a complete century-old grist mill.

The state flower of South Dakota, the American pasque flower, is often pictured with the motto, "I Lead," because it is the first flower to blossom on the prairies in the spring.

3 Drivers Are Sought

The second hit-and-run accident within one week in Edmonton has intensified a police search for the drivers.

Saturday's accident, which left Miss Norrie Emsby, 11838-134 St., lying unconscious on 118 avenue near the St. Albert Trail, was the third hit-and-run of 1950 in Edmontton.

Miss Emsby, who was struck as she walked towards the St. Albert Trail, was unable to describe the car but a witness said he believed it was a taxi.

First hit-and-run crime of the year occurred June 18 when Grace Blackwood, 11340-97 street, was hurled to the street as she waited for a street car in a Jasper safety zone.

Exactly one week before Miss Emby's accident, motorcyclist Harry Dubensky, 12810-129 street, was struck by a motorist who sped from the scene before witnesses could record his licence number. Dubensky suffered head injuries.

Prospects Good For Duck Crop

Duck crop in areas north of Edmonton appears favorable.

A report by Ducks Unlimited (Canada) announced today that generous rains throughout the west have virtually removed danger of serious drought loss in Alberta and western Saskatchewan.

Estimated reduction in breeding stock in Alberta as compared with 1949 is roughly 10 percent.

SINGAPORE, Aug. 9—(Reuters)—An 18-year-old Chinese girl was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment in Johore court today for possessing a hand grenade.

U.S. Visitor Tells Of Fabulous Fabrics

By Bea Thrifty

Fresh vegetables are gracing the groaning board daily now that local gardens are producing.

And oh how tasty, nutritious they are!

I'm kinda partial to cauliflower myself and last night we'uns at our house enjoyed the whitest, garden-freshest cauliflower in this wide, wide world.

But I'll tell you a little secret.

To keep same cauliflower the whitest and bestest, I added a thin wedge of lemon to the boiling water at cooking-time. Lemon bleaches and preserves the whiteness . . . also highlights flavor.

You try it too.

* * * *

A bright-eyed gal who spent a holiday cavorting about the big bad bold city of New York came home with wondrous tales, indeed.

She returned with stories about colorful new fabrics designed for fall . . . everything from candy-striped bed sheets to combination fabric and plastic lunch cloths.

* * * *

I dream fantastic dreams sleeping on conservative old white sheets. . . . I hate to think what candy-stripe sheets would do to my sub-conscious. . . .

But evidently the striped sleepy-time linens are made in pink and white . . . or green and white . . . or yellow and white. Of course the prices are high to match.

* * * *

Another luxury item caught the poor gal's covetous glance . . . nylon sheets at $25 per pair. They're made of nylon crepe, wear like iron . . . and should for that kind of money.

New York visiting friend said her poor husband grew tired of her "ohs and ahs" . . . tired of her roundelay of shopping and window-watching.

But even he admitted the lunch cloth with the family side and the company side was a right smart idea.

* * * *

One side is coated with plastic . . . the other in a rayon cotton weave . . . both in matching solid colors. Price is almost reasonable at $4.

* * * *

I've been chatting with a curly-headed young man in the china department of a favorite shop . . . and he's been telling me the most wonderful things about gay new designs expected in the inexpensive lines of pottery dishes.

For a price of $10-$20 we'uns will be buying a pattern called "Mermaid". In this, mythical deep sea characters . . . done in warm green, blue, and grey . . . are centred on a round white plate. Style of the plates will be patterned after colorful California modern we're enjoying now.

* * * *

Yet another is a fantastic affair of magic lanterns, Aladdin's lamp . . . and an assortment of flowers 'n figures from Arabian Nights.

They sound colorful and certainly gay. . . . I hope they won't spoil a body's appetite . . . what thinkest thou oh reader mine?

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Claims Most Young Men Prefer Inferior Girls

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young man of 20 and go with a good many girls.

I think I am speaking for all the other boys as well as myself when I say that we like to feel a little superior to girls in both physical and mental ability. If, therefore, a girl is as quick to apprehend a situation as we are, we are robbed of the joy of explaining to her what it is all about. Perhaps this is the wrong attitude, but I prefer my girls to be less capable and less wise than I.

A. B. C.

ANSWER: I am certain that you voice the sentiments of practically every son of Adam and that nearly every one of them does prefer the inferior to the superior woman. The average man wants a wife who is intelligent enough to understand what he says to her, but he doesn't want a wife who is cleverer than he and better educated.

MAKES FO RHAPPY MARRIAGE

Not only do men want their wives to be inferior to them but in the scientific studies of marriage it has been conclusively proved that those families are happiest in which the husband is superior to the wife, and that the marriages in which the gray mare is the better horse are seldom successful.

Personally, I think that men make a terrible mistake when they permit their egotism to keep them from marrying women in their own class. For it deprives them of the companionship that would be such a joy to them if they had wives who were as intelligent as they are and who were interested in the same things and with whom they could discuss books and plays and the topics of interest of the day. A very large percentage of the middle-aged men who wander away from their own firesides do so because they are bored at home. They married pretty little hen-minded girls who were not and never could be any feal company to them. And that is a high price to have to pay for the pleasure of looking down on their wives.

WHY GROW OLD

Don't Look Like Lobster At Beach-Use Beauty Aids

By Josephine Lowman

Hal King, chief makeup artist in a famous Hollywood makeup studio for screen stars gave me his idea recently about how to look glamorous at the beach or the swimming pool.

In the first place, he advises using more makeup than usual. In fact he said, "Make up to the hilt!" This is because your hair is covered and your face will look somewhat washed out when it lacks the frame of hair. There is one exception. Do not use cheek rouge because the warmth of the sun makes your cheeks rosier anyway. Today we have many lovely, vivid lipsticks and waterproof mascara.

Mr. King also likes colorful beach costumes and bathing suits He advises choosing a beach towel to lie on which is either pastel blue or pastel green because these match the blue sky or the green ocean.

A cream foundation helps some in filtering the rays of the sun so that they are not so disasterous. In fact, there are several products which filter oht the ultra violet rays so you will not burn, and there is one which is especially designed for the woman who is allergic to the sun; the one who burns at the slightest exposure.

This may all sound superficial but it really isn't because when you go to the beach with your best beau or your favorite husband, you do like to look pretty even though you are having fun and getting healthier by the minute!

A FEW beauty tricks will help you look your best at the beach.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Baby's Rash May Be Due To Some Trivial Change

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

When a child breaks out in a rash, it is well to think back over any changes made in the diet or in any new practices adopted recently.

A mother told me about her 3-year-old who had an extremely delicate skin, but no rash. Then her daughter showed a rash on both cheeks, nowhere else. She could not imagine what might be causing it. She went over in her own mind all the foods to which the child had been subjected for the past twenty-four hours nad could think of none which was different or unusual in the diet.

But, she made one change, which did not seem important and that was of washing powders. For years she had used just the one type and had decided to change to a newer type. The child slept on her stomach and so pressed her cheeks into the freshly washed sheets. Evidently, the composition of the washing powder was such that it was irritating to her delicate skin. When the mother made use of the old washing powder again, the rash dried up.

SOAPS AND BLEACHES

Sometimes strong soaps or bleachers will irritate even the tough skins of an adult, and these would work havoc on the child's.

This warning is not to condemn any soap or washing powder, but to make other mothers alert to the possiblity that the one chosen may not be agreeing with their children's skins. They will know this if there is any rash or irritation present for which they cannot account.

Our leaflet No. 10, "Care During The Summer," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Myrtle Eldred in care of this newspaper.

A—The Supreme Court has given the federal government top rights over the oil-rich tidelands off the coast of Texas and Louisiana. In 1947 the government won a similar suit for full dominion and power over California tidelands.

HIGHLANDS United Church was setting for an attractive ceremony in which Miss Dorothy Jean Briggs became bride of James Hayward Rowswell. Newly weds will reside in Edmonton.

ST. JOSAPHAT'S Cathedral was scene of recent wedding when Miss Tillie Lazowski became the bride of Steve Chichak. Bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lazowski of Edmonton and her husband is son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Chichak of St. Michael.

WHITE BROCADED satin was fashioned into wedding gown of Miss Gwendolene Emilyann Fisher for her recent marriage to Robert Berks Allen in Christ Church, Mannville, Rev. V. P. Cole performed the ceremony.

Double-Ring Ceremony Unites John Morie-Marie D. Boisvert

Immaculate Conception Rectory was the scene of recent wedding when Miss Rita Marie Delia Boisvert exchanged rings with John Alfred James Morie.

Rev. Father A. Duhaime performed the early afternoon ceremony.

Bride, given in marriage by her father, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Boisvert. Bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A Morie, all of Edmonton.

For her wedding, bride wore white suit complemented with royal blue accessories. White gardenias arranged with pink sweetheart roses and stephanotis comprised her corsage.

ATTENDED IN GREY

Mrs. J. R. Boisvert attended her sister-in-law. She wore grey suit with navy feather hat and accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses and stephanotis.

Fred Morie was best man.

Pink and white carnations decorated the home of the bride's parents for wedding reception. Bride's table was laid with white lace and linen cloth and centred with three-tiered cake flanked with pink tapers.

MOTHER RECEIVES

Bride's mother received in dress of royal blue. She chose black and pink accessories and corsage of pink carnations with cream sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

Bridegroo's mother wore navy dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of American Beauty roses and white carnations.

Toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Father Duhaime.

Mr. and Mrs. Morie will make their home in Edmonton.

Tobe on Fashion —

Besides the very narrow sheath, there are two modified versions that are easier to wear.

The profile silhouette brings dramatic interest to the plain sheath. Body of the dress is still slim but at one side—usually left but sometimes the right for variation—there is either smartly cut inset fullness, or an eye-catching grea whoosh of fabric—as a draped pouff—set on top. Both give an easy swing to the dress.

In the trumpet silhouette, the fitted body sheath breaks into low fullness—any place below the hipline — flared gores, inset godets or set-on flounces.

Even if you think your figure is not right for the tight sheath, I'm sure you can wear either the profile or the trumpet silhouette.

Designs Trend To Twentieth Century

NEW YORK,—(NEA)—A strong trend to Twentieth Century designs of American origin marked the showing of furniture at the summer markets here.

These new designs are characterized by sturdy, practical, charm, simple styles done in typically American woods—walnut, cherry, maple, oak and pine.

Chair seats and backs of woven cane, of leather and cowhide were seen throughout the showings.

Upholstery fabrics for fall stress homespun in tweeds, plaids and Provincial patterns.

There will be more nylons, too, and nylons combined with other fibres.

In all furniture, upholstered or otherwise, there will be a number of scaled-down pieces which are especially adaptable to the small home or apartment.

A streamlined version of grandfather's century-old Morris chair is one of the interesting fall pieces.

In its revival, it has been given cushions and back of foam rubber, suspended steel springs and the identical design used by William Morris for the four reclining positions.

The new version also has a lower seat than the old, in keeping with modern design principles.

But it retains the famed sloping seat developed by Morris to provide maximum comfort for the back.

Shields Save

Dress shields may be your solution if deodorants and anti-perspirants offer insufficient protection against the unpleasant and damaging effects of perspiration.

If you find underarm preparations are not enough, there are a variety of shields from which to choose. Although styles vary most of them offer a water-repellent material in combination with other fabrics.

Some types are held in place by pinning to the seams of your dress or blouse, or by elastic straps which are secured to arm and shoulder.

Others include bandettes or blousettes of such lightweight materials as net or sheer batiste, into which the shields are sewn, as well as regulation brassieres which offer underarm protection as well as uplift.

'FRIEND AND HELPER'

Fearless Airmen Laughed at Danger

The boys and girls of today are as familiar with planes as with the family wash. A sky motor's sound is so common we hardly think of it

There was a time when the sound of engines in the air brought not only the young, but everyone else out of the house. Stores emptied. Small factories were deserted temporarily by employes who crowded street or road to gaze heavenward. All had only one burning desire, to see a ship of the sky

So anxious were people to see an airship that several mischievous boys in 1914 on a city street corner began pointing and exclaiming as though looking at something above, and caused a traffic tangle that called out police reserves and caused a tie-up for almost a half hour.

Thirty years ago and more, men virtually laughed at death when they climbed into one of the flimsy kites they flew. During World War I, a man's plane was about as dangerous to his life as enemy bullets.

The Wright brothers in the early part of this century at Dayton, O., were trying to build a "crate" that would fly. They had only a small bicycle shop in which to work and there was much to learn. Safety devices for air travel had not yet been invented.

The cost of materials, the loss of work on the bicycles while they spent long hours on their "crate" was ruining them. It was a question of "Can we continue to eat?"

A sister, a school teacher, came to her brothers' aid. From her small salary she gave to Orville and Wilbur all she could possibly spare, and wages then were a fourth of what they are today

Finally on Dec. 17, 1903, it was Orville's turn to try to fly. He was successful in flying almost a half mile in a motor-driven ship at Kitty Hawk, N.C. Today planes can make non-stop flights across seas and continents

Boys and girls who today see the gleaming monsters of the air roaming the skies can hardly realize what a frail craft the Wright brothers flew. It was no more sturdy than an orange crate and so much resembled a crate that for many years men who flew even the improved ships in 1914 to 1918 called them "CRATES." Pilots had no protection from wind, snow or rain, but sat on the wing with only a belt to hold them.

The success of the Wright brothers was of no commercial value in 1903. Their ultimate success in flying over a period of time and distance was entirely due to a stern perseverance. They would not admit defeat. Even after their first flight, their ship was of no use to carry pay loads. It was only a toy, and it was dangerous to fly in.

After years of effort and painstaking study on the part of the Wrights and others the ships were perfected to a degree of safety.

Sincerely,

Joan Walker

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Story

Standing on the deck of his houseboat in Frog Pond, Uncle Wiggily listened to the strange [illegible] coming to him out of the fog. Bosun also listened, lifting up both his ears and standing with his head turned to one side in order to hear better.

"Didn't that sound to you like bedtime music, Cap'n Wiggily, sir?"

"Yes, Bosun. It does."

"Yes. It sounds like a banjo or guitar."

"More like a banjo, I would say, Bosun."

"Very likely you're right, Cap'n Wiggily. Who is it that plays the fiddle and the guitar or, maybe, the banjo?"

"I suppose you are thinking of Puss in Boots, Bosun?"

[illegible] listened hard with both ears. Then he said

"Sounds to me like as if somebody were rowing a boat this way. [illegible] I can hear oars splashing in the water."

"Right, Bosun! But don't you remember that Bunty, by rubbing Buster's magical lamp, had the good Geni make an outboard motor for the rowboat of Puss in Boots."

"Aye, aye, sir. OK."

"And Puss in Boots kept the outboard motor. He said he would give it to the Marquis. Now we don't hear any sound of an outboard motor, which we could plainly hear through the fog if the motor was put-putting."

"Correct, Cap'n Wiggily. All we hear are oars splashing."

"Then don't you think, Bosun, that if the Marquis were coming here to my boat, he would use his new outboard motor?"

"You're as right as rain, Cap'n Wiggily! This must be somebody else trying to find us in the fog. I'll give 'em a hail." Standing up on his hind legs and holding his front paws like a megaphone to his mouth, the old sea dog barked

"Ahoy! Ahoy out there in the fog! This is Cap'n Wiggily's houseboat. Who are you out there in the fog?"

Out of the mist came a voice saying

"Ahoy, you jolly old sea dog! Is Wiggy, that funny bunch of beet tops, there?"

"It's Turfbog, that English Bulldog!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily

"It sure is, Cap'n Wiggily, sir!" He was playing his fiddle

"Right, Bosun, and I'll play it again," barked Mr Turfbog. "Onree and I thought if you heard our music you would give us a hail. I'll play again."

Once more sounded violin music. And Uncle Wiggily called

"Is Onree Poodell with you, Turfy, you old Piccadilly Circus?"

"Zat is correct, M'sieu Wigallee," answered Onree Poodell himself in his funny French manner. "I am positively here. I play my banjo for you." And he played the banjo

"Bosun," shouted Uncle Wiggily. "We have welcome visitors! But how can they find our boat in the fog?"

I'll tell you how that happened in the story tomorrow if the teaspoon will put enough sugar in the lemonade so the clock won't make funny faces when it takes a drink

Only Real Emergency Would Revive Controls

By D'Arcy O'Donnell

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—(CP)—Revival of wartime controls on such things as prices, rents and wages depends on whether the government decides that a national emergency exists as a result of the international situation, it was learned authoritatively yesterday.

The government will seek authority at the special session, now tentatively scheduled for late September or October, to reinstitute controls on basic materials used in the manufacture of war equipment.

But no decision has been reached on the question of seeking authority to revive the type of controls that affected all Canadians through most of the Second World War.

Statutory authority exists for continuation of domestic rent control until the end of next April. It is the last of a lengthy list of wartime controls still in existence.

RENTAL CONTROLS

Thus far the government has not considered reversing its decision to let the provinces impose and administer any further rental controls after May 1.

Saskatchewan and Newfoundland are the only provinces now with their own rent controls.

In normal times, the constitution places power over civil and property rights in the hands of the provinces. The federal government can only assume such power when it declares that a national emergency exists.

As a result, in order to revive the most important of the wartime controls, the government would have to declare that such an emergency does exist and would have to introduce new legislation at the next session providing for reimposition of controls.

SMOOTH OPERATION

MAYSVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Dr. W. H. Cartmell had a good idea he was being robbed but he couldn't do anything about it.

The doctor reported to police that he was robbed of $1,000 in cash while performing surgery. He looked up during the operation and saw a stranger enter the doctors' locker room but couldn't leave the operation to check on him.

When he finished his surgery, the money was missing from his wallet in the locker room.

Camera Sold To Assemble

Junior can now make his own camera.

Now available in Edmonton is Ansco Craftsman Camera, a construction kit which, when assembled, makes a reliable box camera.

Stocked by Rudolph Drug store, 10005 Jasper avenue, the kit is an educational and informative article.

TEACHING VALUE

No one assembling it could fail to gain knowledge on the workings of a camera.

The camera will take eight pictures on 120 roll film.

All parts, including lens, are finished ready to assemble, and just by using ordinary hand tools an average youngster about 10 should be able to turn out the finished product in two hours.

Big Valley Wins Second Playoff

BIG VALLEY, Aug. 9.—In the second game of the playoffs between Rumsey and Big Valley played here Sunday, Big Valley baseball team defeated Rumsey by a score of 11 to 8.

Big Valley defeated Rumsey previously in the two-out-of-three contest, and now qualifies to meet the winners between Hackett and Byemoor to determine the winners of the league for this season. It is expected this game will be played some time this week.

Inside Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Three eminent movie actors, with a feminine star yet to be selected, are preparing to go barnstorming across the land next February in a play. It's said to be the first time such a project has originated here.

The actors are Charles Laughton, Charles Boyer and Sir Cedric Hardwicke. They'll set forth in "Don Juan in Hell" 50 years after George Bernard Shaw wrote it. They'll appear in college auditoriums and gyms, and their scenery—a big, red-velvet backdrop — will travel with them.

The rotund Laughton will be costumed as Satan. Boyer will portray Don Juan, legendary romantic rascal of many literary works.

Sir Cedric will be the Spanish commander killed by Don Juan on earth before all these characters met in Satan's kingdom. The actress will be the commander's daughter, whom Don Juan betrayed.

The play, a one-hour and 45-minute insertion in Shaw's drama, "Man and Superman," will be presented without interruptions. It was put on a few times in Britain Laughton says, but never in this country.

He calls it "a cathedral of ideas, a brilliant, amusing discussion of sex, life, work, the world, social questions—heaven knows what all."

The project grew out of Laughton's reading of excerpts from the Bible, Shakespeare, and other works on a tour last winter.

"Everybody prophesied disaster," he remembers. "Lo and behold, audiences came out of the ground. There seems to be an enormous audience for this sort of thing." He has 83 more reading dates late this year—31 more than last.

Laughton says he wrote to shaw—"an extremely frightening thing to do." The 94-year-old author's "very nice" reply gave permission for the play to be done separately from the whole work.

It's the Lips That Count, Says Lipstick Specialist

By Patricia Clary

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 9.—(UP)—The most luscious lips in Hollywood belong to Marilyn Maxwell, a lipstick manufacturer said today.

Miss Maxwell's mouth is "a torrid expression of smouldering fire," Al Commigere said, with or without lipstick.

"She is one of the few women in the world who can be desirable without uttering a single word," Commigere sighed.

The other eight loveliest lips in town belong to Elizabeth Taylor, Ava Gardner, Marie Wilson and Songstress Patti Page, he said. And he ought to know. He claims he's spent his life investigating beautiful kissers in order to turn out the best blend of lipstick for them."

Miss Taylor's lips are "petulant, naive and delicately alluring", he said.

"Hers are the lips of sensitive and refreshing young love—yielding, curious, and like the spreading petals of a rose," he said.

Miss Gardner's lips are always laughing.

"And yet the contours of her lower lip denote passion," he said. "Something every man seeks in a mate".

Most men, unfortunately, never get around to looking at Marie Wilson's mouth, he admitted. For their information, it's the bee-stung, Mae Murray type.

"Miss Wilson has boudoir lips," he said.

"In Miss Page's mouth you see the expectations of life and love," he decided, "Joy in her work and tremulous anticipation of what the world will bring".

Men ought to pay more attention to these details, Commigere said. "They'll learn more from a woman's mouth than they will ogling other prominent features.

G. Leeson Dies At Mannville

MANNVILLE, Aug. 9.—Well known resident of Mannville, George Irwin Leeson, 40, died in Mannville Hospital Saturday, following a lengthy illness.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. J. Jandel, Mannville; five brothers, Alex, Bruce, Norman and Len, all of Edmonton; and Roy of Sylvan Lake; three sisters, Mrs. Leo Colborn, Mrs. E. Bugg and Mrs. Fred Chadderton, all of Edmonton.

Funeral services were held yesterday from McQueen's United Church, Mannville, with Rev. H. Penner officiating.

Strange 'Fish' Pay

SAN DIEGO (UP)—If they're not having much luck with their nets, fishermen can now make money by "catching" naval gun targets. The targets, 12-foot floating pyramids anchored offshore for bombing squadrons, occasionally slip their mooring and drift down the coast. The naval air station announced it will pay $25 cash for every target returned intact.

Korean's Despatch Case Held Lipsticked Kerchief

By GENE SYMONDS
Exclusive to The Bulletin

WITH U.S. FORCES, KOREA, Aug. 9.—(UP)—He was a handsome young intelligence officer of the North Korean army who carried a lipstick-smeared silk handkerchief among his secret papers.

They found him dead, half his head blown off by American mortar fire north of Masan—one of the many Communist casualties on the southern front.

A picture he carried showed a young man with wavy black hair, wearing a Russian style tunic. The papers in his leather dispatch case were highly informative.

He was a Manchurian, 26, a senior lieutenant—equal to captain in the American army—and the assistant intelligence officer of the Red 6th division in charge of reconnaissance behind American lines.

A diary revealed he was in command of North Koreans who infiltrated out lines by twos and threes. They passed their information back to him, and he correlated it and passed it on to higher headquarters.

The despatch case contained shoulder boards indicating his rank—practically identical to Russian insignia. There were papers revealing he had been born in the extreme north of Manchuria, near the Siberian border.

Apparently he was not too well educated, for the diary he kept—up to Aug. 5, the day before he was killed—was in basic Korean.

And stuffed among his military papers was that small square green silk handkerchief smeared with bright lipstick.

Booths Display Club Projects

OHATON, Aug. 9.—Three junior clubs from Heather Brae are represented at the Camrose fair, being held this week at the Camrose exhibition grounds.

The grain club, garden club and Bonnie Lassie clothing club all have displays at the fair.

Two scholarship winners were announced among Bonnie Lassie members, and two others representing the Camrose district with a judging team at Olds in the provincial judging competition.

The Jolly Junior girls of Ohaton also have a booth and members will represent Alberta at a short course in Montana this month.

Tonsils Come Out

CUSTER, S.D. (UP)—Until doctors went to work on her, 12-year-old Susie Baxter had two sets of tonsils. She underwent a tonsilectomy while visiting her grandmother in Wisconsin. A few days later, an X-ray picture disclosed another pair of tonsils under her tongue. They were removed.

Looking For Acreage?

Are you one of those seeking that certain bit of acreage that you've had your heart set on?

Perhaps, like others, you will discover that you will have to compromise, at least with acreages as they appear today, but not with the future possibilities. This acreage certainly has future possibilities. Priced right for the immediate and an excellent buy based on future development.

This parcel is 5 acres, strategically located, offers a 5-room bungalow, with living room, dining room, 2 bedrooms and kitchen. Three lots around the house are fenced to make an excellent playground for your children.

This mental picture you have formed will not be complete unless you can visualize in your mind's eye, a neglected 5-room house, but nothing that a little ingenuity and a certain bit of elbow grease would not remedy. The full price is $5,250, and with terms, too.

Edmonton Jet Pilot Pins Up Toronto-Montreal Record

MONTREAL, Aug. 9 — (CP) — The CF-100 "Canuck" zoomed at an average speed of 638 miles an hour last night to establish what is believed to be a Toronto-Montreal speed record, completing the 325-air-mile jaunt in 30 minutes and 10 seconds.

An experimental jet fighter, the "Canuck" was flown here to take part in trials today before Defence Minister Claxton and senior RCAF officials at suburban Dorval airport.

The CF-100, a long-range reconnaissance and night jet fighter, was sighted over Dorval airport at 7:34:10, exactly 30 minutes and 10 seconds after it took off from Toronto's Malton airport.

RCAF officials here said it was undoubtedly a record, but could not immediately find previous marks with which to compare times.

(An RCAF spokesman in Ottawa said the speed of the fighter was "no surprise." But he could not supply any immediate comparisons.)

Bill Waterton, a former RCAF squadron leader, piloted the aircraft. The Edmonton airman has been test pilot since the CF-100 was built by the A. V. Roe Company of Toronto and will fly the plane in the demonstrations.

The show was called to test the first Canadian-built F-86 (Sabre) jet fighter, which holds the official world speed record of 670 miles an hour. The RCAF plans to adopt this day fighter as a first-line plane and Canadair, Ltd., here already have begun production of 100 of the planes.

Waterton described the flight as "quite uneventful."

The Edmonton native, now living in England, has been on loan to the A. V. Roe Company of Toronto, builders of the CF-100, since January for its test flights.

Waterton said he flew at an altitude of 22,000 feet. "Visibility was not too good at that altitude," he said, "and a couple of times I found myself a bit south of my course."

He expects to continue tests for about six weeks before returning to England.

Retired School Inspector Dies At Vermilion

VERMILION, Aug. 9. — Retired school inspector Hugh Robert Parker, 78, died last night at his home here.

Mr. Parker was born in Ontario, and was a graduate of Queens University. He came west in 1906 to Calgary to teach school.

Later he was high school principal at Fort Saskatchewan and in 1910 was appointed school inspector and placed in charge of the Vermilion inspectorate, a position he held until his retirement 13 years ago.

He was past master and honorary life member of Vermilion Massonic Lodge, honorary life member of Vermilion Curling Club, and at time of death was the town's representative on the municipal hospital board.

Mr. Parker was also Bulletin correspondent in the Vermilion district for several years.

Surviving are his wife, three daughters, five grandchildren and a great-grandchild. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

Shortcut Taken On Army Vote

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Congressional procedure was cut short yesterday to speed up an army request for $84,949,000—much of it to be used on new and secret projects, to strengthen bases in Alaska, Japan and Okinawa.

Of this amount $27,579,000 in military public works has been authorized by the house of representatives armed service committee, but the remaining $57,369,000 projects has not been considered by the committee.

Miracle Mile Would Better City Conditions

Completion of the Detwiler $28,000,000 Miracle Mile would improve conditions for Edmonton as a whole.

Commissioner D. B. Menzies said at yesterday's session of the current public utility commission hearing on the development that it would be in the best interests of Edmonton for a number of reasons.

In response to Chairman G. M. Blackstock's direct question, Mr. Menzies said it would "from the standpoint of the city as a whole, considerably improve conditions. The conditions for people would be better after it is completed".

"It would solve a number of problems we don't now seem to have the answers for," he said.

It would provide an early answer for the growing parking congestion in downtown Edmonton, it would provide an urgently needed 2,500-seat auditorium, and it would revive sagging downtown property values, he said—all at no cost to the city.

Mr. Menzies said he would have to concede that the development might hurt some property owners, but "from the standpoint of the good of the city as a whole", it definitely would be in the city's best interests to sign the proposed agreement with First New Amsterdam Corporation covering the scheme, which will make the city a partner in net profits to the extent of 25 per cent.

RED DEER, Aug. 9—Arthur Anderson, 64-year-old farmer of the Shady Nook district, was found dead in a field on his farm yesterday morning by a brother, Ted Anderson.

Cause of death is unknown. A few bruises marked the body, which had apparently lain in the field overnight near his tractor and disc.

A bachelor, Mr. Anderson spent all his life in the Shady Nook district about eight miles west of Red Deer. He is survived by two brothers and five sisters.

Danish Cabinet Resigns Today

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Denmark's Social Democratic Cabinet resigned early today and its parliament was dissolved following opposition party refusal to approve new import duties.

Writs were issued for new parliamentary elections to be held Sept. 5. Until then, the outgoing cabinet headed by Prime Minister Hans Hedtoft will remain as a caretaker government.

Canadians first saw electric street railways in operation at the Toronto exhibition grounds in 1885.

OIL

Pacific Seeks Oil In Southern B.C.

By C. V. Myers
Bulletin Oil Editor

Pacific Petroleums is preparing for a new wildcat in B.C. in the southern part of the province near the Montana border. The new well will be on a 65,000 acre reservation formerly held by Amalgamated Oil Company of B.C.

Pacific will do seismic work and drilling for a 75 per cent interest. Amalgamated retains a 25 per cent interest for the land.

The location of the well cannot be made until seismic work has been completed within the Flathead Valley, which forms an equilateral triangle with its 20 mile base along the Montana border. Main oil interest is in the southern portion of the triangle.

OIL SHOWINGS

Pacific is following up oil showings which have been known as far back as 1890. Prevalent oil seepages led to drilling in 1914 by a Spokane based company and later in 1933 by Columbia Oils Ltd.

Columbia completed an 8,000 foot hole but it was found that the bit had veered off horizontally at 4,284 feet. Even so, excellent oil shows resulted.

Development of the area has been hindered by its remoteness and inaccessibility. The Canadian road approach ends in a dead end at Corbon at the north end of the triangle.

SECONDARY ROAD

Only approach from Montana is 74 miles of secondary road from Columbia Falls. This road was opened a few years ago and extends into the area of proposed exploration.

Officials of Pacific said that bridges are now in shape to take the equipment needed. Geophysical exploration is slated to begin at an early date, to be followed by a well this fall if at all possible.

The Flathead development shifts the B.C. oil spotlight several hundred miles from Lone Mountain where Phillips Petroleum has been engaged in deep drilling to the extreme south of the province.

Superior Joseph Lake No. 10 has been placed on pump as the eighth producer in the field, the fourth since the original group of four.

On pump test the well yielded 270 barrels in 24 hours. Three other wells, Nos. 11, 12 and 14, are reported preparing for steady production.

A twelfth well, No. 15, was an assured success by drill stem tests Tuesday when oil reached the surface in 44 and 31 minutes.

VIKING CONTACT

Last interval was five feet to 3,331 feet, nine feet below the Viking contact.

Drill stem test of the top seven feet gave 2,800,000 cubic feet of gas and 1,080 feet of mud. The well will penetrate the Viking.

A new site, No. 17, has been picked as a northwest offset to No. 15. No. 16 to the south is rigging up.

Defence Ordering Is Slow But Steel Being Grabbed Up

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Steel procurement will be a major problem for most manufacturers for a long time, The Iron Age, metal working trade weekly says today.

Buyers, the publication reports, are taking every ton of steel they can get their hands on and reaching for more.

But it adds: "There is practically no chance that consumers will be able to boost their steel quotas for peacetime production. With steel items already on informal allocation by the mills, the only way a consumer can get more steel from the mill is by obtaining defence or essential orders or by showing a history of steel buying far out of proportion to his present quota."

The Trade Weekly says steel orders for defence have been "surprisingly slow in coming," although it reported a few inquiries for specialties, shell steel and tubing for aircraft and tank treads.

VANCOUVER, B.C.—(BUP)—A $1,000,000 B.C. iron ore contract with Japan was announced by Vancouver manager Harry N. Frith of the A. and C. Development Company, of Vancouver and Seattle, Wash.

The ore is destined for Japanese steel mills and will come from the Prescott mine on Texada Island, near Vancouver. The mine has not been worked for some 20 years.

He added the order was just an initial sale and possibly the forerunner of a long term contract with Japanese steel manufacturers.

LONDON, —(Reuters)— After a slow start to the new account, in which rubber shares displayed the only real activity, the London Stock Exchange showed a wide range of improvements by the close today.

Issues with a war potential such as the heavies, machine tools and radio shares recorded many sizeable gains.

There was a broadening of interest in tin shares while coppers also improved after an uncertain start.

Oils failed to hold their early firmness and finished unchanged to fractions lower on the day.

Gilt-edged closed quietly steady.

MONTREAL, —(CP)— British overseas Airways Corporation reported today that June passenger sales in the United States and Canada were the largest in the company's history.

Canadian dollar passenger sales for the Jan. 1-June 1 period were slightly less than $1,000,000 as compared with about $500,000 during the same period last year. The increase in dollar earnings is attributed by the corporation to the increased capacity it has been able to offer with the addition of the Stratocruiser aircraft.
